Small House Assembly Plant At Tweed

Sawyer Stoll Lumber Company Ltd., of Kaladar, is opening an assembly plant for the construction of precision-built homes on the property owned by "Bob" Wood on South Victoria Street, near the C.P.R. station, Tweed. Stewart Lessard who was formerly associated with Precision Pre-Fab Homes, will be in charge of the Tweed enterprise. It is understood that a small staff of men will be engaged in the assembly of the homes. Lumber for the new dwellings will be prepared at the Kaladar plant of the Sawyer Stoll Company. —Tweed News.

sermon was delivered by Rev. Tuttle on the subject, "The church in a time like this."

During the sermon, a list of the names of the original donors who helped build this church was read, also of the sacrifices they must have made to build a good frame building which is still in good condition after one hundred and sixty five years, and these people were living in log houses themselves. Also of the work to get lumber sawn and transported through solid bush country. Of the carpenters who came from Kingston — likely by canoe to do the work. "They built well." Of how the original seats have recently been replaced by new ones, the exact replica of the original ones, by a carpenter in Kingston. Do people now-a-days make as many sacrifices to attend church service as those early settlers of long ago, who made their way to Divine Service along bush trails? No doubt some of them came quite a few miles.

The hymns used at this service included: "O God Our Help In Ages Past," "Glorious Things of These Are Spoken," and "Rise Up O Men of God." The Picton Quartette sang, "My Anchor Holds" and "Lead Kindly Light."

Tribute was also paid to the work of the Ontario Provincial Police in placing so many cars so that all could hear the sermon.

The benediction was pronounced by Mr. John Robinson, student minister on the Adolphustown Charge.

Plaque Unveiled

After the service A Plaque in Memory of those who built the Hay Bay Church in 1792, was unveiled by Mr. Nickie, M.P., of Kingston, who told how the Department of Historical Sites of Ontario is doing its best to mark and preserve all these places in memory of those early settlers who did so much to make Ontario what it is today. He hoped tourists would pause to read the inscription on this plaque and thereby be impressed as well as the present generation, who may pass that way.

The Hay Bay sign on No. 33 Highway is on the north side of the road, a mile or so east of Adolphustown. The Church is about two miles north and slightly east.

Fines have not solved moving traffic violations, better results might be obtained by impounding the car for a few days instead. This might prove to be a deterrent big enough to stop some of our careless driving. —Wm. R. Sullivan, 720 West Tenth St., Los Angeles 15, Calif.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

A cheque to cover the cost of publication of two Gospels in African tongues has been received by the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada from a Montreal subscriber who wishes to remain anonymous.

One thousand copies of St. Mark's Gospel in Matakan for the Cameroons and 5,000 copies of St. John's Gospel in Idoma for South Nigeria, will be financed by the special contribution. These Gospels had been translated and were awaiting funds for publication.

The donor had paid for an African Gospel some years ago, and inquired about financing publication of another translation. When he discovered that the Matakan and Idoma translations could be published for a total of $750, this Montrealer and his wife sent a cheque for that sum in thanks-giving for God's blessing upon their household.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

WAYS TO BE FREE

I like the story of the Irishman, shipwrecked off a foreign coast. When he struggled to shore his first question was, "Who's the government here?"

On being told, he stuck out his chin and said, "Well, I'm agin it!"

We must have a government and we must have law and order. But governments are composed of men and women (too few women) no better than you or I. They are not saints, they are not Solomons. They can make very grave mistakes. They need watching.

Governments are dangerous when we let them grab too much power. They can use this power to get re-elected, and that is a rather strong temptation often yielded to.

I often wish governments would get back to governing, and get out of all the other things they've stuck their noses into. I've never known them to succeed in any business, unless they had an iron-clad monopoly — and most of us don't care much for monopolies, government or private. I wish they'd stop trying to care for the social welfare of those of us who are capable of caring for our own — and if they must engage in welfare, let them concentrate on the minority who need help, instead of the majority who have votes.

I know a woman who has been a great believer in the benevolence of our government for years. The other day she had to cash one of the few remaining $1000 government bonds her husband had left to her. She got quite a shock when she found out that she could only get something like $880 for it. She wishes her husband had put his money in the common stocks of some good private industry. She's not so fond of governments today.

The best government is the least government. I'd like to see taxes cut in half and government enterprises cut in half. I'd like to see governments give up the notion of handling our cultural lives — because I've seldom met a truly cultured politician, though I've met a lot of them.

I venture to say that the first government to give up some of its powers and restore those powers to society would win overwhelming support from a public which has at last discovered that the government really hasn't a single free service to give to anybody — we pay through the nose for all of it. Our eyes have been opened at last!

THE FELLER MACKELLAR

Phil MacKellar, Toronto jazz personality and disc jockey, is the new host on CBC Dominion "Jazz Unlimited." MacKellar takes over the spot occupied by the late Dick MacDougal. Like his predecessor, MacKellar is a leading figure in jazz circles and a tireless organizer of jazz concerts. He himself is a drummer and has played with Marion MacPartland, Charley Barnett, Dizzy Gillespie and Charlie Ventura. He is the only disc jockey ever to have had a theme composed for him by vibraphonist Terry Gibbs; he's also been acclaimed disc jockey of the year by Metronome Magazine.

Lived To Be 108, Once Deseronto Citizen

A man who lived to be 108 and died last week as Toronto's oldest man, once lived at Deseronto while he was a foreman on the Grand Trunk Railway.

He was William Fetherstonhaugh, who said he never touched a drop of liquor in his life and said it added years to his life. He left Deseronto before the First World War and worked as a cabinet maker until his retirement in 1929.

McLaughlin Gives $60,000 To Scouts

Weekly Newspaper Men To Meet

On September 9th, 10th and 11th, the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association will hold its 35th annual convention in Banff, Alberta.

Representatives of member newspapers from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island will meet to discuss the salient problems facing the industry, and to greet old friends, and make new ones, in this unique fraternity of weekly newspaper publishers and editors. As has always been the case, many of the wives and children will be present, for they are a part of "Canada's Biggest Family Party," as the C.W.N.A. convention has come to be known, just as in so many instances they are active workers in the family newspaper.

There are serious problems facing the weekly newspaper industry today. High wage levels, constantly rising cost of materials and equipment, and a shortage of experienced workers are placing a very heavy demand on the productive and management skills of publishers, who seek to hold down costs as the alternative to increasing advertising and subscription rates. Their problem becomes even more acute when, because of rapid growth of the communities they serve, they must enlarge their plant and equipment, placing a great strain on limited reserves.

Such are the problems with which the C.W.N.A. conventions and the meetings of the provincial divisions of the association must deal. In forums and general meetings, delegates will attempt to find solutions and reach decisions which it is hoped will work for the good of the entire industry, C.W.N.A. members and non-members alike.

Certainly there are the pleasures of the social side of conventions, and the C.W.N.A. convention is rated high in this respect. But there is much serious discussion, too, because the member newspapers of the association are constantly seeking to improve themselves, not only on the inside, but in the public interest as well. It is never forgotten that the faithful subscriber is, in the final analysis, the keystone of a newspaper's being.

Delay Is Sought In Phone Rate Hike

Ontario municipalities have asked for a six-months delay in the scheduled final hearings on the application by the Bell Telephone Company to the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada for permission to increase telephone rates in Ontario and Quebec.

Action to this effect was taken at the convention of the Ontario Municipal Association at Bigwin Inn, Muskoka, last week when a telegram of protest against the projected action was forwarded to the Board.

Army headquarters announced the appointment on Monday. Lieutenant Colonel Johnston, now commanding officer of the Alberta Military Hospital, will take over his new post September 16th. He is the son of Mrs. W. A. Johnston, 74, Ingberman St., Campbellford. — Campbellford Herald.

Care Ensures Fish Against Wasteful Spoilage

Because of carelessness, misinformation or ignorance on the part of anglers, many good fish are wasted. Observance of a few simple rules and practice of reasonable care with the catch will ensure fish against spoilage. Lands and Forests officers advise.

Conservation Officer R. W. Jordan, of Lion's Head in the Lake Huron district, offers these suggestions: Some fish are more susceptible to spoilage than others and type of fish, district, weather and altitude all are factors affecting keeping qualities.

During rainy, humid weather, fish are highly perishable and it is not safe to hold them longer than a few hours without ice. Cool, dry air reduces humidity and lessens and retards putrefaction. If the weather is hot and dry, fish keep longer if they are cleaned and wiped dry. Fish can be kept in a live box, and some species — the food value of catfish, for example — are not harmed. But the excitable species, such as bass, suffer deterioration. The same may be said of holding fish on a stringer. Kill the fish as soon as they are caught, draw, remove the gills and, with the back of the thumbnail, strip the kidney which lies along the spine at the back of the visceral cavity. Do not wash, but dry with a paper towel or dry grass.

Remember, bacteria develop more rapidly on a moist surface, so the fish should be kept dry until ready for the pan or refrigerator. The best way to dry their surface is to hang them in the shade where the breeze strikes them for a few minutes.

Do not permit the fish to touch each other while carrying them in the creel; it causes softening. Avoid using green grass, leaves or ferns as they heat badly. Dry grass or hay allows the air to circulate freely around the fish, keeping them dry. This care should be practised particularly with trout which go soft quickly when piled in a creel full of green, slimy vegetation.

Never put dead fish in water, regardless of how cold it is, with the idea of keeping them fresh. Kill, draw and dry immediately.

It is important that fish be drawn immediately since the stomach contents start putrefying shortly after the fish is taken and the gastric juices often eat into the flesh, causing taint.

In the 1946-1956 period labor income in Canada rose 168 per cent, compared to an increase of 104 per cent in the United States in the same period.

THE FOOD BASKETCEREALS GOOD IN MANY WAYS

Of all the foods you could name there is probably none more versatile than cereals. They appear at breakfast in the form of quick or instant porridges, shreds, puffs, biscuits and kernels. For dinner or supper they are used as toppings on casseroles, coatings on croquettes and extenders in meat loaves and patties. They are also put to very good use in cookies, muffins and baked desserts.

The crunchy texture and nutty flavor of cereals shows up in this favorite cookie suggested by the Home Economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture. It is simple to make, and best of all, it is as appropriate for a child's lunch box as it is for a tea table.

BALANCE OF POWER
(The Printed Word)

The reported boast of the CCF party, that they would hold the balance of power in the new parliament, need not be taken with great seriousness. It is true that, if Mr. Coldwell and Mr. St. Laurent can induce their followers to cast a unanimous vote against a government measure, they can bring about the defeat of the government, the dissolution of the house and a new general election; but the threat should not scare anyone, except possibly the CCFers themselves. They have no chance of forming a national government, and the probability is that many of their members throughout the country would desert to either the Conservatives or Liberals if another general election were called within the next few months. Thus the CCF members of parliament, if they were to gang up with the Liberals to force a dissolution, would also be promoting the dissolution of their own party.

Canada has been fortunate in having the CCF in power in Saskatchewan for the past thirteen years, during which they have had an opportunity to demonstrate what a socialist government can do. The demonstration has not been a particularly successful advertisement. Compared with other Canadian Provinces or with her sister prairie provinces, Saskatchewan has earned a relatively small share of Canada's general prosperity. It is at least arguable that the province might have been better off if the socialist principles and policies of her government had not alienated the trust of outside investors.

Socialism, in the form of Crown companies, has established a record of disastrous failures in Saskatchewan; and the Saskatchewan record is all that the CCF can show to back its claim to manage the national economy. The claim will not be recognized outside of the province in which the party has something of a political machine.

This is not to say that the CCF members at Ottawa are poor politicians. Some of them are quite able, and because they are, they will not risk their seats in displaying their shadowy balance of power.

BEARDS COMING BACK
(Napanee Post-Express)

It was not so long ago that Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner seemed to be the only possessor of a fine beard in the country. But other beards are slipping in. Arnold Edinborough, editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard has a fine Van Dyke which has been visible to television audiences frequently when he does so well in quiz shows. Then there is Bill Boss of the Canadian Press who sports a fine bushy beard, also, whose picture is not so familiar.

There have always been a few beards around the National Film Board in Ottawa and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in Toronto. In some of these cases it has been a moot point whether the beards were grown purposefully or just arrived through failure to shave.

Now, away beyond the erudite editors of the provincial press and the odd types in films and TV the beard is apparently becoming more common.

They are appearing regularly on the Toronto streets and even, occasionally, a beard is carried past this office window.

There is no reason that men should not start to grow beards generally again aside from the fear that they might appear a little different from others.

Shaving each morning is a nuisance. Were we mere males not slaves to convention and chicken-livered copycats, we would emulate the Robertson Davies and Arnold Edinboroughs and just let 'er grow. The trouble is somebody in the common herd has to start and it won't be us.

FOOD PRODUCTS
(Canadian Health Magazine)

There are many things which may militate against the sale of fine goods and especially good foods. For one thing, of course, people will prefer to buy a product because it is cheaper. For example, in Paris, France, where both pasteurized and unpasteurized milk are sold in the same dairies it is said that the worker tends to buy raw milk because it costs a little less. This is in spite of the fact that pasteurized milk is better for his health and that of his children. That such a choice should be possible is, of course, deplorable. But even here in Canada the same condition of affairs exists. For instance in the same town one may, in different shops, buy raw or pasteurized milk. In the absence of sufficient popular education the choice depends on the ignorance of the customer instead of the value and safety of the product.

In other cases the eagerness to sell by a vendor is allowed to push the customer into buying an inferior product because the customer is led to believe that he is getting something for nothing. Here, of course, we are referring to the use of premiums to promote sales. In some cases perhaps artificial means of promoting sales are a tribute to the ingenuity of the manufacturer. In the case of the sale of foods, however, the use of premiums may become dangerous and vicious.

Johnny's mother, purchasing in the local shopping centre, is persuaded perhaps by Johnny himself to purchase an inferior breakfast food — but not because the aforesaid food contains all of the vitamins and minerals which are necessary to Johnny's growth. This is a thing of which Johnny knows nothing. Johnny's fond parent buys food product A rather than food product B because if she purchases food product A he will become the proud possessor of a rubber ball or a toy airplane or fire engine, for free. One wonders how gullible people can be. Of course, the purchaser, as not the manufacturer, pays for the gimmick — and Johnny suffers because his well-meaning parent fails to recognize that her offspring's right to healthful food is much more important to him than an apparently free toy.

Intelligent people should feel that where the use of premiums balances the scale against the sale of good food it should not only be discouraged but prohibited. The smart advertising expert who invented the use of premium selling to promote the sale of food products deserves no credit. If there is any code of ethics in industry the practice should be discontinued. In the meantime it might be a good thing to advise parents to discontinue the purchase of food products the sale of which is promoted by premiums.

Belts Necessary

Car safety belts that hit the automotive market and the buying public with a wave of sales and high regard last year seem to have ebbed away to poor sales and much controversy. Reports from new car agencies indicate only as high as 15 per cent of new vehicles and as low as four out of 200 are equipped with the belts.

Reasons for the low sales are many and varied. One sales manager says the cost of the "accessory" is prohibitive; another says it is not; one noted

BACK TO SCHOOL

Johnny's mother, purchasing in the local shopping centre, is persuaded perhaps by Johnny himself to purchase an inferior breakfast food — but not because the aforesaid food contains all of the vitamins and minerals which are necessary to Johnny's growth. This is a thing of which Johnny knows nothing. Johnny's fond parent buys food product A rather than food product B because if she purchases food product A he will become the proud possessor of a rubber ball or a toy airplane or fire engine, for free. One wonders how gullible people can be. Of course, the purchaser, as not the manufacturer, pays for the gimmick — and Johnny suffers because his well-meaning parent fails to recognize that her offspring's right to healthful food is much more important to him than an apparently free toy.

Intelligent people should feel that where the use of premiums balances the scale against the sale of good food it should not only be discouraged but prohibited. The smart advertising expert who invented the use of premium selling to promote the sale of food products deserves no credit. If there is any code of ethics in industry the practice should be discontinued. In the meantime it might be a good thing to advise parents to discontinue the purchase of food products the sale of which is promoted by premiums.

One sales manager said the belt would be of more use to the passenger than the driver. Some claimed they were of no use at all and a small-car agency claimed that no car should be brought out without being equipped. "Even without any accident the belts are worth their price," the later said "you come to a fast stop and bang! A belt would save you from a nice gash on the head."

Siding with the pros a dealer asserted that the cost was not and should not be prohibitive. (The cost of a set of safety belts runs from $12 to $20). "These things are wonderful," he said, "and they are not that expensive. The same driver that will turn down a set on the cost alone will turn around and buy expensive white-wall tires instead. The small amount could be a real life-saver."

A dealer in higher priced cars said the item was pushed on the public too fast and that time and education will see sales rise. "Police and safety organizations are encouraging individuals to use the safety belt. As they sell it on its merits sales will rise." He felt that when the belts came onto the market there was a fad to have them, almost a touch of drama to see the belt lying on the seat as a sort of grim reminder of the other side of pleasant driving. However, he added, people who are buying safety belts today do so without merely the urge of the crowd behind them. They know its good use, a result, he claimed, of education.

Helps Driving

Another dealer noted that his agency was selling them steadily. (About one car in 15 is sold with safety belts). An advocate of its use himself, he claimed that when a driver is fastened to the car and moving with the car it requires less effort to drive.

I could drive 500 miles with a belt and when I get out of the car feel as if I'd only driven 250 miles. He added that they were for convenience as well as safety. They make you feel better, he added, and they help your posture by holding you back against the seat. I like the feel of a belt. Nevertheless, the sales manager did not think that safety belts would be of any positive use in the back seat.

The type of man, said another manager, who will buy a safety belt is one who appreciates driving conditions and yet drives faster than the average person. He realizes he is a fast driver and looks ahead.

Few in Older Cars

Automotive supply firms report that sales of the belts for older model cars are almost negligible although many said they maintained complete lines.

In view of wide variation in sales among the agencies it would seem that salesmen have much to do with sales. Another factor might be on the price range in which a car falls, that is, a person that can afford a big car might have the belts put in without having to consider the cost, whereas a man who buys a low price car might have to count his pennies.

Yet another factor might indeed be public education or opinion on the belt's safety merits. A fourth factor, and this one although seemingly slight was mentioned by the dealers, is that a driver does not want to have his seats cluttered with the straps.

Whatever the deciding factor is, it seems as though Mr. Average Motorist does not want to or does not feel the need to be fenced in just yet.

Solution

Pretty well every driver has his own personal solution to the traffic accident problem, but unfortunately, too often the main requirement is that the "other fellow" should mend his ways.

Parks are always of interest to travellers and one of the largest in Ontario, Algonquin Park, which covers 2,750 square miles, provides unlimited facilities for tourists.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WEED OF THE WEEK

USE OF GRADED SEED BEST BINDWEED CHECK

Field Bindweed, or wild morning glory, is one of the most persistent and destructive weeds with which the Ontario farmer has to deal — so troublesome in fact that it is classified as a prohibited noxious weed under the Canada Seeds Act and no seed of any kind can be legally offered for sale if it contains even one Bindweed seed, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Bindweed is a perennial with a very extensive and deep creeping root system and spreads by both seed and bits of broken rootstock. Its leaves are small and arrow shaped; its flowers which bloom from June to September, are white or faintly pink with the familiar funnel shape of the morning glory. The stems creep along the ground, fasten themselves onto any plant they encounter and smother it.

The great difficulty in controlling Field Bindweed is the tremendous underground root system. Complete eradication is possible but takes time, patience and hard work. To prevent blossoms and seed from forming in a field of spring grain which is not seeded down, 2,4-D at the rate of 8 oz. per acre should be used and spraying delayed as late as possible to allow maximum emergence of the weed. Following harvest a repeat application of 2,4-D at 16 oz. per acre should be used as soon as regrowth is present. Do not plow until late fall in order that the 2,4-D can penetrate the Bindweed roots. The same procedure should be carried out the following year and then the field should be seeded down to a hay or pasture mixture.

To prevent new infestations use only graded seed. A constant watch must be kept as Field Bindweed seeds have been known to continue to live in the soil for nearly thirty years.

ZEBRA CATERPILLARS ON TURNIPS

In some districts zebra caterpillars are defoliating turnips. At present these caterpillars range in length from 1 1/4" to 3 1/4". The small ones may be confined to a single leaf and may not be conspicuous. After riddling one leaf, they spread out to adjacent leaves and devour these as they grow.

The characteristic marking are four yellow longitudinal stripes against a dark background.

Treat with DDT. Use 40 pounds of 3 per cent dust per acre or spray with 3 pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder or 2 quarts of 25 per cent emulsion in enough water to cover an acre.

NEW BULL AND BOAR POLICIES ANNOUNCED BY MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

Performance as well as type and conformation will be an important factor in determining premiums to be paid on superior type animals under Ontario's revamped Bull and Boar Premium Policies, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Agriculture, announced. In future bulls that have made satisfactory records from the standpoint of rate of gain will command a higher premium than bulls that have been approved on type only.

In order to qualify for the higher premium a bull must have gained at a rate of 2.30 pounds per day or better, inasmuch as this figure approximates the average for all bulls tested to date, it can be assumed that a bull must be equal to or above average in performance before he can be described as having a satisfactory rate of gain.

According to the tests that have been conducted there is a close correlation between rate and economy of gain. Invariably the bulls that gain at the highest rate possess the ability to make their gains with smaller quantities of feed than the slower gaining bulls. Thus the new policy envisages greater emphasis on the factors which contribute to economical beef production.

Nevertheless rate of gain will not be the only factor considered. Bulls must be acceptable from the standpoint of type as well. Their acceptability from this standpoint will be determined at the conclusion of the test at which time they will be officially graded into one of the following classifications: Breeder, commercial or plain. Bull classified in either of the two first named grades will be approved provided they have met the performance requirement of 2.30 lbs. per day or better.

In future, Ontario farmers who buy bulls that meet these standards at the Ontario bull sale or a sale held under the auspices of a Breeders' Club or at a Breeder Sale will be eligible for a premium equal to 33 1/3 per cent of the purchase price but not exceeding $200.00. In the case of a bull that has been approved from the standpoint of type only the premium will be 20 per cent of the purchase price up to $60.00 when the purchase is made at a Breeders' club sale, or up to $120.00 when a bull is bought at the Ontario bull sale.

In an effort to improve the quality of Ontario hogs producers are being encouraged to buy boars out of record dams. As a consequence premiums will apply to boars of approved type and out of dams qualified in Advanced Registry, provided that the herds in which they are produced show no visible evidence of an infectious disease. The premiums paid to purchasers are on a sliding scale ranging from $35.00 down to $25.00. The highest premium applies to boars of approved type out of dams qualified with a score of 84 or more, and sired by a qualified boar.

"Ontario has reached the stage when performance merits equal consideration with type," said Mr. Goodfellow. "The shows have made a real contribution to the improvement of our live stock, but for obvious reasons they do not attempt to assess the inherent qualities of the animals. These characteristics can only be determined by a process of testing. Since they have such an important bearing on the cost of production they are worthy of careful consideration by every live stock producer in the country."

RECOGNIZE SMALL DAIRYMAN'S DEVELOPMENT OF CHAMPIONSHIP MOTHER — DAUGHTER PAIR

Friends and neighbours of Harold Baker, Kingston, joined with dairy leaders in honoring him at a Recognition Meeting held at his farm August 15th, sponsored by the Frontenac Holstein Breeders Club.

Mr. Baker has developed a dam and daughter pair of Holstein cows that have established a Canadian record for two generations of lifetime production on twice-a-day milking with a total of 371,790 pounds of milk containing 12,819 pounds of fat. This production was made in twenty-seven lactations on twice-a-day milking.

In presenting a Gold Ribbon Certificate of Longtime Production recognizing the fourteen lactation total of 205,157 lbs. milk and 6,902 lbs. fat made by the daughter, Avorill Coronation Ormsby Piebe, John Powell of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, Brantford, Ontario, noted that the combined production of the mother and daughter was the equivalent of 148,716 quarts of milk, enough to provide ten families with the usual two quarts a day for twenty years and one hundred and thirty-six days. He added, "All dairymen recognize that the most profitable cow is the one that produces at a high level on a year-after-year basis. Here we have an outstanding example of great lifetime producing ability handed down from mother to daughter. Such combinations are the foundation cows of the future, providing stepping stones to the development of a superior race of cattle."

In proposing a toast to the mother and daughter and to their owner, J. R. Henderson, Kingston, a Past-President of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, said it was significant that Mr. Baker had developed these great cows despite the fact that he had only a small herd, never milking more than a dozen head.

Pressed to explain why he had been able to develop his cows to a point beyond the achievements of men with much larger herds and a great deal more elaborate set-ups, Mr. Baker would say only, "I have always loved working with my cattle and am keenly interested in making the most of their abilities."

A pair of True Type Holstein models were presented to Harold and Mrs. Baker by Grant Smith, of Brockville, on behalf of the Frontenac Holstein Club.

The dam of this daughter-dam combination is named Abbey Re-Echo Dewdrop and she has a thirteen lactation lifetime total of 166,638 lbs. milk containing 5,916 lbs. fat.

CONTROL OF PERENNIAL WEEDS

Many shallow-rooted perennial weeds do not persist under cultivation and in vigorous growing pastures. They may be controlled by one or two applications of 2,4-D at 1 lb. per acre. Dandelion, plantain, chickory and hawkweed fall into this category.

Deep-rooted perennial weeds, on the other hand, especially those with roots or rhizomes which spread horizontally in the soil are not easily controlled. Canada thistle, perennial sow thistle, toad flax, leafy spurge, and hoary cress are examples of this type of weed. The roots of these plants are not destroyed by ordinary cultural practices and new shoots invariably arise from root fragments and from deep parts undisturbed by implements.

It is extremely difficult and costly to eradicate these once they become firmly established, reports Dr. James R. Hay, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Thus, current recommendations are aimed at reducing the infestation to the point where the weed does not cause crop losses, rather than at total elimination.

Intensive summerfallow and use of selective herbicides are the two most effective means for control of these weeds and for best results both should be used. Unfortunately, although selective herbicides will kill the tops of most deep-rooted perennial weeds they are not translocated to the roots in sufficient quantities to kill the whole root system. Summerfallowing should actually start with a fall plowing and the area should be thoroughly worked throughout the following spring and summer. The purpose of a summerfallow is to exhaust the food reserves in the roots, thus at no time should the weed be allowed to recover to the point where the roots are again replenished from the above ground growth.

Herbicides may be used in place of one or more cultivations during the summerfallow year. In many cases, the inclusion of such a treatment (1-2 lb. 2,4-D ester per acre) in mid-summer has greatly improved the effects of the summerfallow.

Although 80-90 per cent reduction may be expected, control is usually not complete, especially if the weather conditions have not been favourable, so that after a summerfallow year there are usually some roots still surviving and ready to reinfect the area again. Thus, when the weed appears in the succeeding crop it should be sprayed with a selective herbicide such as 2,4-D to further keep the weed suppressed. Application should be made at as high a rate as the crop will safely tolerate and should be delayed until the weed has fully emerged, otherwise shoots not yet through the ground will be missed.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

WATCHDOG FOR INDUSTRY

Canadian buyers of all kinds of goods and services, like their counterparts throughout the world, have the responsibility of protecting their own interests when they make purchases.

But they get a great deal of protection, often unknown to themselves, through Better Business Bureaus.

In an article on these non-profit organizations, the new Encyclopedia Canadiana states that the bureaus make a day-by-day practice of assembling and collecting evidence of business frauds.

Each bureau is autonomous in its own locality and members are local business firms paying a yearly fee.

Officers and board of directors and businessmen, elected to service without compensation.

The first Better Business Bureau established in 1914 in the United States, was the outgrowth of advertising clubs and the vigilance of alert businessmen, says the ten-volume encyclopedia. The movement spread to Canada in 1918, first in Montreal.

The Association of Canadian Better Business Bureaus, with headquarters in Ottawa, now has affiliated bureaus in Montreal, Ottawa, Halifax, Quebec City, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver and other centres.

The bureau's public information promotes consumer and employee education and its investigations frequently uncover fraud and evidence of other infractions that may be corrected by its own influence or give grounds for prosecution. Their "Fact" booklets deal with numerous bits of business advice and warnings to the public. Their slogan is "Before you invest — investigate."

Moocroft — Dickens Wedding

Pink and white gladioli and ferns formed a lovely background in College Hill United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, August 24th, at 2:30 p.m. for a pretty summer wedding when June Elaine Dickens, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dickens, became the bride of Boyd Frederick Moocroft, of Madoc, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Moocroft. The Reverend W. R. Merrick of Belleville, bridegroom, and the wedding was officiated by the Reverend W. E. G. Dovey, officiated.

Mrs. Norman Miller, of Belleville, provided the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Grant Richardson, of Stirling, who sang for the ceremony, "Because" and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Arthur Dickens, wore a charming gown of white, satiny, tiered lace over nylon and taffeta featuring a fitted bodice with matching jacket, buttoned to the neckline, sheath-like sleeves lily-pointed over the wrists, and Peter Pan collar. The full skirt was in ballerina-length. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by crown studded with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red roses mingled with baby's breath and wore a strand of pearls with matching earrings the gift of her bridegroom.

Mrs. Marlene Richardson, of Stirling, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, gowned in coral crystalline over taffeta with matching feathered headdress. Miss Sandra Dickens, sister of the bride, was senior bridesmaid, attired in turquoise nylon net and lace over taffeta with matching bolero and feathered headdress, and Miss Linda Dickens, also a sister of the bride, as junior bridesmaid was attired in yellow nylon net and lace over taffeta with bolero and feathered headdress. All carried bouquets of white daisy 'mums tied with blue, pink and green tule, respectively.

Mr. Thomas Moocroft, of Oshawa, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and Messrs. Melville Dickens, uncle of the bride, and Monte Moocroft, brother of the bridegroom, both of Belleville, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church hall with the catering done by the College Hill W.A.

The bride's table was pretty in its appointment of white linen damask, centred by a three-tiered-pedestalled cake topped with a tiny bride and bridegroom, and adorned with pink roses and white love birds, tall, white candles, and the bridal bouquets added a nuptial accent.

The bride's mother received, gowned in aqua nylon lace over taffeta, in sheath style with matching jacket, navy accessories, and corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother, attired in tea blue nylon lace over taffeta with white accessories and yellow rose corsage, assisted.

For the wedding trip through western Ontario, the bride donned a powder blue crystalline dress with matching duster, white accessories, and powder blue feather hat and corsage of pink and white feathered carnations. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Moocroft will reside at 66 Charlotte Street, Belleville.

Guests attended from Belleville, Stirling, Trenton, Toronto, Madoc, Oshawa, Cooper, Kingston, Thomasburg and Foxboro.

Prior to the wedding, the bride was the honored guest at a presentation at the Bank of Commerce, where she is employed; at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Betty Graham, of Belleville; at a crystal shower at the home of Miss Lois Hillman, of Rossmore; and at a kitchen shower at the home of Miss Carolyn Belcourt, of Belleville, and at a presentation by the Y.P.U.

New Survey Discovers Heart Disease Selective

Coronary heart disease, the commonest form of heart disease today, is least frequent among young married women, among persons living in the rural part of the southern States, and among those who have had no history of premature death or occurrence of heart disease in the family according to a report received by the Health League of Canada from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

A study of recorded mortality reveals variations according to age, sex, weight, race, marital status, geographic region, and other factors.

Up to age 45, the death rate from heart disease runs up to 6.6 times as high for white men as for white women. The ratio decreases progressively with advance in age, until at ages 85 and over, the rates for the two sexes among white persons are about the same. Among non-whites, the sex differences in the death rate are much smaller, and do not vary much with age.

Heart disease death rates are significantly higher for the widowed, the single, and for the divorced than for the married. It would appear therefore, that the factors associated with married life — selectivity of marriage and the more favourable environment of the married — influence the level of mortality from the disease.

A number of studies have shown that people who are overweight are more likely to suffer fatal attacks of heart disease. When overweight is coupled with slight or moderate elevation of blood pressure, the chances of such an attack are greatly increased. "Statistical findings strongly suggest that hereditary factors have a considerable influence on the level of mortality from heart disease," the report concluded.

The Split Second

Sandwiched in between the instant when the need to stop becomes suddenly apparent and the application of a vehicle's brakes, is a fractional second period when the mind and muscles react — but wherein the vehicle continues unchecked into the hazard. It is a universal, human characteristic. Known as the "reaction time," it has an average duration of 3-4ths of a second, increasing with age, fatigue and impairment.

A car at 20 m.p.h. continues for a car-length during this period when the eyes, mind and muscles are interpreting the need to stop into the application of brakes. An additional car-length is needed at this speed to bring the car to a stop under good conditions of brakes and road surface. As speed increases so does the distance travelled during the "reaction time" and the braking period, until at 50 m.p.h. the total under good average conditions has grown to about 200 feet, or around ten car lengths.

Based on these unavoidable factors and broad studies of rear-end collisions and their avoidance, a rule-of-thumb has developed which says that no less than one car length for each ten miles an hour of speed is an essential distance between moving vehicles — and the rule pre-supposes an alert driver, a sound vehicle and a dry, hard road surface.

Enjoy The Creamy-Fleshed Pears Now

When buying pears, look for fruit that is well shaped and without bruises or blemishes. If you're not going to use the pears right away select some that are rather hard and allow them to ripen at room temperature. Pears are ripe and ready to eat when they are slightly soft at the stem end.

Be sure to take advantage of the texture and flavour of this fruit in a variety of dishes. Try sliced pears over your morning cereal or combine pears with raisins, chopped nuts or cream cheese in a refreshing salad. Consider too, the numerous dessert possibilities such as tasty fruit cup, pear upside-down cake, or pears baked the same way as apples. Between meals, young and old will find a pear an exceptionally satisfying snack.

You would be wise not to limit this fine fruit to fresh eating. Canned pears are delicious and will be a welcome addition to any meal as an appetizer, a garnish, a salad or a dessert. For Consumer Section directions for canning pears, write to the Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont. and ask for a free copy of "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables."

Bylaw To Borrow $12,000 For Purchase of Fire Pumper Presented

Ask Approval of Municipal Board Before Final Reading — Consider New Lights

A bylaw to issue debentures for $12,000 for the purchase of a new fire pumper was given its first and second readings at the regular monthly meeting of Village Council on Monday night. Final reading will not be given by the bylaw until the Ontario Municipal Board gives its approval of the expenditure.

Reeve James Holt was in the chair and Councillors C. A. Wells, K. Ray, W. L. Pollock and James Wright were in attendance.

Reeve Holt, who is a member of the Public Utilities Commission by virtue of his office, sought Council's opinion on the installation of twelve new street lights similar to those erected on the four corners. The Commission had the necessary plans drawn up and was ready to undertake the work as soon as Council's approval was forthcoming.

The new type lights give greater illumination at less cost. With the addition of the new lights street lighting in the Village, including purchase and installation, would cost approximately $176 per month, providing Council waved claim on $2,000 owing the Village by the Commission, or approximately $215 per month otherwise, stated Reeve Holt.

Councillor C. A. Wells stated he would like time to consider the matter and suggested it be tabled for a month. Other Councillors concurred in this view and the matter will come up for discussion again at the October meeting.

Councillor Mallory tabled a letter from the Ontario Municipal Board stating the Board would meet a deputation from Stirling Council in Toronto at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, September 11th.

Councillor W. L. Pollock reported several tombstones overturned in the local cemetery by vandals. Clerk Mallory reported the need of additional plots being staked out. The matter was left in the hands of the cemetery committee.

The sale of the former Barker house on Emma St. owned by the municipality was discussed at some length. On motion of Councillors Ray and Wells the Property Committee was authorized to interview Mrs. W. Barker offering her first chance to purchase the property. If she were not interested in its purchase the committee was empowered to offer the property for sale by tender, the same to be advertised in the News-Argus with tenders to close October 5th, lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Reeve Holt reported on an interview with Department of Highway officials in Kingston, relative to the sidewalk on North St. north of Gore St.

The following accounts were presented for payment:

Riverside Construction, $232.42; Green's Garage, $8.00; Clifford Sine, $57.00; Flintkote Co., $287.11; F. R. Armstrong & Son, $36.25; County of Hastings, $96.90; Bell Telephone, $15.80; F. R. Mallory, $15.30; United Stationery, $15.28; Glenn Morrow, $24.00; S. The two boys also displayed the many souvenirs which they had accumulated.

Mrs. Villette thanked the boys for their talks and for giving the members a chance to hear about the Scout Jamboree.

A reading was given by Mrs. Villette, followed by a contest, "Proverbs." Hymn 779 was sung and Mrs. H. C. Secker closed the meeting with prayer.

Carl Reid Chosen "Spirit of the Camp" At Lake Couchiching

Carolyn Thompson, Corbyville, and Carl Reid, Stirling, were chosen to represent Hastings County at the Annual Provincial Junior Farmer Leadership Training Camp at Geneva Park, Lake Couchiching, last week.

The group of seventy-six delegates and sixteen staff members came to camp by rail, car and chartered bus from Sudbury, Timmins, Thunder Bay, Windsor, Simcoe, Manitoulin Island, Niagara, Cornwall and most of the Counties within this boarder.

Deputation Waits On Board
Concerning Transportation
— No Action Is Taken

Members of the Stirling-Rawdon District High School Board met on Monday night with J. B. Belshaw presiding, and supported by Messrs. E. Coiden, Jas. Johnston, Theodore Cooney, Dr. Don Rodger, and W. J. Morton. Messrs. K. Tompkins, E. Cottet, O. Dracup and R. Matthews, of the 7th Concession of Rawdon, waited upon the Board on the matter of transportation of their children to the High School. Last year the school bus travelled along this section and picked up the pupils, but under the transportation arrangement this year the pupils are picked up at a point some distance West. Members of the deputation wanted the bus route the same as last year. Following a lengthy discussion the Board decided to take no action on motion of Messrs. E. Coiden and T. Cooney.

Mr. Harold Baker interviewed the Board with regard to liability insurance and medical aid for children. It was moved by D. Rodgers and seconded by E. Coiden that the Board advertise for tenders for $100,000 liability insurance and $100 per pupil medical aid. Tenders to close September 15th, 1957. Tenders to be mailed to J. B. Belshaw.

Mr. Harold Baker tabled a request for supplies which was granted on a motion by W. Morton and T. Cooney.

The following accounts were passed on a motion of W. Morton and J. Johnston:

Stirling Public Utilities, $44.09; Bell Telephone, $5.85; J. M. Dent & Sons, $84.48; J. L. Good, $2.95; C. E. Macklin, $230.90; R. M. Marbury, $7.20; D. Loucks, $46; Stirling News-Argus, $24.18; Clarke Irwin and Co., $6.95; James Texts, $3.49; Duffin's, $8.19; Hatton Hardware, $6.85.

Reunion of Gilwell Leaders

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irish and Mrs. Burton Woodbeck attended the reunion for Gilwell Leaders held at the Blue Spring Scout Camp, Acton, Ont., on Saturday and Sunday, September 6th and 7th. Two hundred leaders from Ontario attended.

Mr. Fred J. Finlay, Chief Executive Commissioner of Canadian Headquarters, addressed the group. "A hundred years from now it will not matter what my bank account was, the sort of house I lived in, or the kind of car I drove; but the world may be different because I was important in the life of a boy," stated the speaker.

Helpers Needed

Joe Irish, District Scout Master, is concerned about lack of helpers to operate the local Boy Scout Troop. Speaking to the News-Argus this week, Mr. Irish stated: "There will be quite a few boys disappointed if we do not find leaders to help run the Scout Troop. A start will not be made until we have at least two men to help. So if you want your boy to be a Scout, how about helping us to do the work."

Edsel, Newest Ford Motor Car Now On Display at McIntosh & Wells

Ford of Canada president Rhys M. Sale has revealed at a press conference that the world's newest line of automobiles, the Edsel, will be sold and serviced in Canada by the coast-to-coast organization of Ford-Monarch dealers.

They will operate in future under the Ford-Edsel sign, as the name "Monarch" is being discontinued with the end of current model production. "Since its introduction in 1946 the Monarch has earned an outstanding reputation and the name will be an honored one in Canadian motoring for many years to come," Mr. Sale said. "Monarch owners have our complete assurance that parts and service for their cars will be available as long as may be necessary."

Edsels will go on display in dealer showrooms September 11th and 1958 models of Ford, Meteor, Mercury and Lincoln cars will be introduced in late October and early November.

With the dual Ford and Edsel franchises, Mr. Sale said, Ford-Edsel dealers will be fully competitive across the entire low price bracket in the big volume segment of the medium price field. Concurrently, the competitive position of Mercury-Lincoln-Meteor dealers will be strengthened by a broadening of their product line-up. They will continue to have the entire Meteor range in the low price field; four series of Mercurys comprising the Monterey, Montclair and Turnpike Cruiser and an entirely new series of super Mercurys to be known as the Park Lane; and the full Lincoln line.

"The whole purpose behind the creation of the Edsel and Park Lane is to widen our company's approach to the medium-price section of the Canadian market, which is steadily becoming more important," Mr. Sale said. "We intend more cars in more price ranges to be fully competitive."

With the exception of some convertibles and station wagons, for which the potential market could not justify the establishment of production facilities in Canada at this time, Edsels in all four series are being produced in Ford of Canada's plants. Assembly of the first Edsels began at Ford Oakville in July and they are coming off the line in steadily increasing volume.

Those attending the celebration included three granddaughters, Mrs. Fred Smith, Fuller; Mrs. Durwood Tebo, Flinton, with Mrs. Thos. Foley, acting as hostess.

Following the week of the reunion, Mr. McCumber, a native of Fuller, left to renew acquaintances in the Fuller and Madoc areas.

During the week friends and neighbours have been welcomed to the Smith home from Chicago, Illinois; Trenton, Madoc, and Washington, D.C.

Record Attendance Anticipated At International Plowing Match

Reports reaching the Ontario Plowmen's Association indicate that this year's International Plowing Match, to be held at Simcoe, Norfolk County, on October 15th to 18th inclusive, will be one of the largest in the history of the organization.

F. A. Lashley, Secretary-Manager of the Plowmen's Association said that reports being received from the local committee were to the effect that preparations for the big event were well under way and that a record attendance was anticipated.

While many exhibitors and food caterers have taken up space there are still a few locations available. It is expected, however, that these will not last long judging by the demand to date.

Entries from contestants will be well up to previous years with considerable interest being shown in the various plowing classes. There is still time left for plowmen to make entry. These will be received at the Secretary-Manager's office, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, up to October 1st.

St. Laurent Announcement Brief Simply-Worded

Text of Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent's announcement that he will not lead the Liberal party in another federal election:

"After careful consideration and in the light of the medical advice which I have now received, I have come to the conclusion that I no longer have the vigor and energy required to lead the party through a general election campaign.

"I know, from the experience of the previous elections, how great are the demands which they make on one's strength and physical resources and I am convinced that, as leader, I could no longer do full justice to those demands.

"Health, permitting, however, I will be happy to continue to serve as leader of the Liberal party, pending the choice of my successor at the convention which will, no doubt, soon be held.

"My regret at having to make this decision is equalled only by my conviction that it is the right one and that any other would not be fair to the party through which I have had the honor — and there can be no greater — to serve my country for so many years."

noons.

Outstanding stage shows are being held in the Arena on the grounds the last two nights, September 17th and 18th. receive from annexation will be more expenses and higher taxes.

The city of Toronto proved this in the three large annexations they undertook and, as a result, adopted a policy that no further annexations should take place.

Annexation of part of Hastings County by the city of Belleville will mean that the County will lose approximately $4,000,000.00 of assessment with only a very small loss of land. This can only mean that the mill rate in the rest of the County will increase. Reliable sources in the County Council have estimated that an increase in mill rate of 6 to 9 mills for the rest of the County would be the result of annexation. It would also mean a loss of approximately $25,000,000.00 per year from the County Road Funds with a loss of three miles of roads, which would mean a drastic cut in county road maintenance.

The city of Belleville is in a precarious financial position. It is faced with the construction of a completely new sewage disposal plant in order to stop present wholesale pollution of the Bay of Quinte. It has not attracted a major industry in the past ten years. The only industry it has acquired was done so by annexation of the land on which that plant stands from the Township of Sidney.

What then is the real reason for Belleville attempting annexation? It is certainly not bursting at the seams. In fact the population has decreased during the last year and many houses and a large number of stores are anxiously looking for tenants. There is plenty of scheduled industrial land within the city to attract industry but the Belleville Tax Structure certainly does not appear to be attractive to large industries.

The only conclusion, therefore, that can be drawn from the present situation is that Belleville is looking hungrily at the ready-made assessment on its own doorstep. At the next council meeting of the City of Belleville the Council would do well to follow up the reading of the Lord's Prayer with a rendering of the Tenth Commandment.

(Issued for the information of the taxpayers of Hastings County by the South Thurlow Taxpayers' Association.)

Plants in Ontario and Quebec largely account for Canadian production of patent and proprietary medicines and pharmaceuticals.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

The Official Bard of St. Paul's will meet on Monday, September 16th at 8:15 p.m.

The Carmel Church Anniversary is to be held on Sunday, September 29th at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Arthur Packman will be the guest preacher.

Dr. Packman addressed the St. Paul's High School students on Sunday morning and was assisted by Mr. Paul Packman, who conducted the service and Mr. J. L. Good, B.A., Principal of the High School, who read the lessons.

Four students, Denton Shortt, Ed. Mayhew, Fred Palmer and Spencer Brown also assisted.

Several helpers are needed at St. Paul's for young people's work. The Sigma-C boys' activities should be restarted at once, but this cannot be done until leaders are found for this work. It is, perhaps the most rewarding part of our work among the younger boys. Please offer yourself for this programme.

For Adults, the Sunday Morning Bible Class, which meets at 10:00 o'clock, will welcome any new members.

Baptisms

The Sacrament of Holy Baptism will be administered on Sunday, September 29th at St. Paul's at 11:00 a.m. The St. Paul's Church Anniversary will be held on Sunday, October 20th. The Rev. Gordon Porter, M.A., B.D., M.B.E., will conduct the services.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

The first Bible House for East Africa will soon be opened in the city of Nairobi in Kenya, by the British and Foreign Bible Society. A modern building, it will stand not far from the centre of the busy city, and in an area accessible to Europeans, Africans and Asians.

The Rev. Frank J. Bedford, secretary for East Africa, reports that there are now 17 active auxiliaries of the Bible Society in his territory, and that some 25 translation and revision committees are at work.

Earlier this year there was a great thanksgiving service held at Machakos, 40 miles south-east of Nairobi, when thousands of the Wakamba tribe gathered to express gratitude for the arrival of the complete Bible in their language.

Watson -- Parks Wedding At Cooper

Baskets of white and pink gladioli and tall white candles formed the setting in the Cooper United Church on Saturday, August 24th at 12 o'clock for a lovely summer wedding, when Marilyn Joan Parks, of Cooper, Ont., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parks, became the bride of Glenn Aubrey Watson, of Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Watson. The Reverend John Glover, of Marmora, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Betty McConnell, of Mount Pleasant, rendered the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Jim Pollock. Wellman's, who sang, "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length bridal gown of Chantilly lace over nylon net and taffeta. The short sleeved bodice and skirt was of lace over net forming a tiered chapel train of ruffled net, featuring a scalloped lace Peter Pan collar with matching scalloped lace mitts. Her headdress was of net and lace with seed pearls and iridescent sequins which held the finger-tip veil of silk tulle illusion edge with scalloped chantilly lace and she carried a white Bible crested with pink Sweetheart roses and streamers.

Mrs. Donald Sherry, Belleville, as matron of honour, was attired in a ballerina length gown of pink nylon chiffon over taffeta fashioned with a bouffant skirt, shirred bodice and cap sleeves, with trimming of crested pearls at the neckline. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and blue feathered carnations mingled with white tulle and lace ribbon.

Miss Nancy Reynolds, cousin of the bride, and Miss Gloria Parks, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids, wearing gowns of powder blue nylon chiffon over taffeta similar to the matron of honour. They carried cascade bouquets of white and pink feathered carnations with white tulle and lace ribbon.

All attendants wore white nylon scalloped picture hats, white nylon mitts and shoes.

Little Anne Watson, niece of the groom, was sweet in her ankle length gown of pink flowered nylon over taffeta. The pleated bodice and sleeves were gathered to a shirred skirt.

and fashioned with a pink taffeta sash and cummerbund, with hat and gloves to match. She carried a bouquet of white and blue feathered carnations and ribbon.

The ring bearer was Master Lloyd Dunham, cousin of the bride, dressed in white flannels and navy jacket, who carried the rings on a pleated satin shaped white satin cushion.

Mr. Craig Watson, Harold, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. The ushers were Mr. Lorne Watson, Harold, brother of the groom, and Mr. Grant Parks, Belleville, cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Orange Hall, which was decorated with pink and white streamers and bells, to which the W.I. and W.M.S. catered.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tiered wedding cake, nestled at the base with pink tulles and rosebuds and flanked by tall pink candles and the bridal bouquets.

The guests were received by the bride's mother wearing blue crepe and lace with dusty rose accessories and corsage of white feather carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother who was attired in mauve and white silk with pink accessories and corsage of white feathered carnations.

The waitresses for the reception were the Misses, Donna Rollins, Beverly Graham, Jean Frost, Rita Christie, Velma Rollins, Isabelle Burnside, Carol Stewart, Kay Homan, Barbara Sager and Mavis Bird.

For the wedding trip through the Adirondacks and New York State the bride wore a brown and beige figured chiffon dress, beige duster, with beige and bronze accessories and corsage of yellow tea roses.

Guests attended from Williamsburg, N.Y.; Stamford Centre, Godfrey, Peterborough, Stirling, Trenton, Kenmore, N.Y.; Foxboro, Kingston, Mount Pleasant, Harold, Corbyville, Marmora, Queensboro, Madoc and Cooper.

Previous to her marriage the bride was honoured with a community party and presentation by the Foxboro friends, and also a presentation by the Foxboro School Board; a miscellaneous shower with Mrs. Donald Sherry as hostess, at Foxboro; a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Dennis Chapman with Mrs. Lynn McCoy assisting, at Cooper; a presentation from the Foxboro 4-H Club; a presentation from the Foxboro Public School, and a presentation from the Sunday School at Cooper at a party and presentation from the Cooper and Remington communities.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

TOIL AND TAXES

I've been reading the story of an American woman's heroism, and it had to do with toil, taxes and trouble.

Trouble began when this woman, because she feared that rising income taxes were gradually destroying the freedom of the American people, decided to do something about it. She ran into plenty of trouble, but she started something.

She showed how far the imposition of income tax, together with the law that compels employers to collect the taxes of their employees, had robbed individuals large and small of freedom they once held sacred. She illustrated how the government, seizing this power in time of war, failed to relinquish it when peace came.

Her book, "Toil, Taxes and Trouble," is the story of her battle to get the validity of the withholding tax tested before the courts, and of the government's crude and vicious efforts to force her to knuckle down, even though her taxes were paid and all the taxes of her employees had been paid.

This woman lost money, suffered at great deal of anxiety and trouble, because she had the courage of her convictions. Though she defeated the tax collectors in some court battles, and made them return money they had seized, in the long run she was virtually helpless before the crushing powers of the tax collectors.

It may be true that in Canada our tax collectors are less ruthless and intrusive. It may be true that the kind of bribery and corruption that took place in the Bureau of Internal Revenue in the U.S.A. could not be found here. Just the same, our tax collectors do have the powers to invade the privacy of every citizen, and Canadian employers also are forced to deduct taxes from their employees and thus become unwilling tax collectors without pay.

Every point made in "Toil, Taxes and Trouble" applies in Canada, with the exception of the ruthlessness of the tax collectors. It is to be hoped that our new government, at the earliest possible date, cuts taxes right across the board. Once government revenue is brought down a little, government economy can be expected. But as long as the money rolls in, it will be spent — and none too wisely.

If I could afford it, I would send a copy of Miss Kellem's book to every member of the new Cabinet. There eventually compressing the retina.

As the pressure increases further, not only is the retina destroyed, but also part of the optic nerve until the result is total blindness. Glaucoma, makes its appearance in two forms, acute glaucoma and chronic glaucoma. The onset of acute glaucoma is dramatic and is accompanied by severe pain, inflammation and diminution of vision. Chronic glaucoma is insidious in onset and is hard to diagnose in the early stage. It has been likened to a thief in the night, coming without warning, doing irreparable damage before the victim is aware of its presence.

Only an eye physician with special means at his disposal, can detect glaucoma in its early stages. Dr. Hodgson points out. In treating the disease, the primary aim is to reduce the pressure within the eyeball. Prompt treatment can check the mounting pressure and sometimes reduce the tension to normal, but it cannot restore the part of the retina and the nerve which glaucoma has already destroyed.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Club

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Club met at the home of Misses Annie and Bessie Fleming on Friday evening and was well attended.

President Arthur Hassall presided and the programme prepared by Rev. and Mrs. W. H. V. Walker was opened by singing, "Come Ye Thankful People Come." The Scripture, found in Isaiah 6, was read by Mrs. Milton Shaw. Rev. W. H. V. Walker led in prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The Treasurer's report was given by David Fargey. Plans were made for a bazaar to be held in November, also for catering at the sale barn late this month.

The roll call was responded to by bringing something for the church kitchen.

Miss Margaret Wright gave a fine talk entitled, "Antidote to worry," based on Matthew 6: 34, "Therefore do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day."

When Jesus said, "take no thought of the morrow," He did not imply any improvidence about the future. Jesus planned carefully for the future.

But there is a world of difference between foresight and foreboding between legitimate planning and senseless worry. Worry has been called the greatest disease of our age.

There are two golden days in the week upon which and about which we should not worry. One of these days is yesterday, with all its care and fret, its faults, mistakes and blunders, has passed beyond recall. It was ours, now it is God's. The other day is tomorrow, with all its possible adversities, its large promise and poor performance as is far beyond our mastery as its dead sister yesterday.

There is left for us then but one day in the wood. Today. Worry is a futile habit. It can achieve nothing. Jesus said, "Which of you by being anxious can add one cubit to his span of life?"

Trust is the remedy that Jesus offers. Commit life to a never failing God and leave the unseen future which troubles you in His hands. Dr. Osler, the eminent scientist, advised, "Live in daylight compartments. Don't let yesterday and tomorrow intrude upon your life. Then you will avoid the waste of energy, the mental distress and nervous worries, that dog the steps of those who are over anxious about the future."

A solo, "A Trust Song," was given by Mrs. A. Fleming. Two short readings were given by Mrs. John McInroy. All joined in singing, "In An English County Garden." The programme closed by the singing of "Breathe On Me Breath of God" and the Mizpah Benediction.

A contest, composed and conducted by Mrs. W. H. V. Walker proved very interesting. The answers were found in the names of families of the congregation.

Lunch was served.

ions. An address was read to the young couple by Mr. Bill McKeown, while Mr. Doug Andrews made the presentation of a purse of money from their many friends.

Jack and Helen each replied in a few well chosen words.

Following lunch dancing was enjoyed with Mr. Phil Beaupre's Orchestra, with Mr. James Mitts as floor manager.

The offering was taken and a prayer of dedication followed. The Lord blesses a cheerful giver.

The second part of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Blanche Reid. A reading was given by Mrs. Ken Ray. But beware of entrance into a quarrel for it always takes two. Many people, even Christians, and some times Presbyterians, are hard to get along with, but let not the fault lie in us. The topic on "Faith" was well given by Mrs. Blanche Reid. In our life time experiences, mountains can be removed if we have faith.

A reading "Be a friend in deed," was read by Mrs. A. O. Dalrymple. A piano solo was rendered by Mrs. Vernon Matthews. A reading, "They should be close to God," was read by Mrs. W. Hodgen. This had a wonderful lesson for us all.

A review of the September Glad Tidings was given by Mrs. H. Rolling.

Miss Leeta McCully Cherry, who is the Associated Church Press reporter, attended the annual meeting of the Church Press, which was held in Philadelphia this year. She said she felt justifiably proud that the Glad Tidings is one of their papers.

The singing of a hymn and the benediction brought the meeting to a close.

The committee in charge, Mrs. Duncan Montgomery, Mrs. C. B. Rollins and the President, served a delightful afternoon tea. The thanks of the ladies was expressed by Mrs. A. O. Dalrymple.

THE FOOD BASKETSALAD SANDWICH LOAF

Why don't you make a salad sandwich loaf next time you entertain? It's one of the easiest refreshments you can serve because all the work is done ahead of time.

This is what you'll need:

One 1/2 pound loaf of bread, preferably day-old and chilled for easy slicing. White bread, brown bread or alternate slices of each may be used. One-quarter pound of softened butter.

About one-half cup each of four different fillings such as chicken salad, cheese filling, ham salad and egg salad. (Note: See recipes below.)

Three 4-ounce packages of cream cheese softened to spreading consistency with salad dressing or light cream. (Note recipe below.)

Garnishes — such as tomato or radish roses, pickle strips, pimento strips, whole or sliced olives, parsley, cress, green pepper rings.

Trim crust off of bread, then place loaf on its side and slice lengthwise into five even slices, about 1/4 inch thick. Spread first and fifth slices with softened butter on one side only and other three slices on both sides.

Spread buttered side of first slice with chicken salad. Top with second slice and spread with cheese filling. Add third slice and spread with ham salad, then fourth slice and egg salad and finally the fifth slice with buttered side down. Remove any filling which oozes out.

Frost tops and sides of sandwich loaf with cream cheese frosting. Chill thoroughly — at least 3 hours. Garnish before serving. To serve, cut in 10 to 12 slices about 1-inch thick, and serve on individual plates along with salad forks.

Individual Salad Sandwich Loaves

Round — Cut 5 rounds of bread from slices of bread, using a cookie cutter. Finish as above.

Oblong — Use 5 regular slices of bread, remove all crusts and fill same as sandwich loaf. Cut in half before frosting.

Filling And Frosting For Salad Sandwich Loaf

You can use one filling throughout a salad sandwich loaf but for a variety of colour and flavour try this combination of fillings. Mix ingredients in each recipe thoroughly, until easy to spread.

Chicken Salad

1 cup minced cooked chicken
2 tablespoons chopped olives or green pepper

3 tablespoons salad dressing
Salt and pepper to taste

Cheese Filling

1 lb. soft processed cheese
1 cup chopped unpeeled cucumber
2 tablespoons chopped peanuts
3 tablespoons salad dressing

Ham Salad

1 cup minced cooked ham
3 tablespoons chopped pickle
3 tablespoons salad dressing

Egg Salad

2 chopped hard cooked eggs
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1/2 tablespoons salad dressing
Salt and pepper to taste

Cheese Frosting
3 1/2-ounce packages cream cheese
6 tablespoons salad dressing

You will have a little of each of the sandwich fillings left over for lunch box sandwiches, but the Cheese Frosting recipe makes just enough for one sandwich loaf.

TO AVOID ACCIDENTS
(Hamilton Spectator)

Tests indicate that safety belts won't save the motorist's life in a high speed collision. They're going to keep on with this research until they finally produce the answer that the best way to avoid being hurt is not to run into anything.

SAFETY IN COLOR
(Rockville Recorder and Times)

A survey made by police at Kitchener states that brightly coloured cars are involved in fewer accidents than are cars of a grey or beige shade. In fact red cars are noticeably absent when it comes to accidents.

It stands to reason that red, the brightest color on the chart, would be seen much better by passing traffic — and next in the line must be bright blue. Green and light blue could melt into the scenery, and black cars along with other darker shades, are not quite so noticeable.

Unfortunately grey and beige cars could blend right into the road when it comes to suggesting a contrast in color between car and highway.

CONSERVATION NEWS !Forest Protection

Increasing fire hazard conditions were general throughout the Tweed District and ranging staff remained close to headquarters ready for quick action in case of new fire outbreaks.

Warm weather and lack of rain, have made forest areas very dry and fishermen and others travelling in the woods are warned to observe every precaution with burning smoking materials and lunch fires.

Ten forest fires were reported in the District during the week ending August 31st. Fire fighting crews were able to get these fires under control quickly and acreages were small. Preliminary investigation indicated six of the fires were caused by carelessness with smoking materials and neglected camp fires, two by settlers and one from a burning cottage. A spark from a railway locomotive was blamed for the other outbreak.

Many forest fires can be prevented by practising a few simple fire safety rules while out in the woods: Crush out cigarette butts and pipe heels on rock or throw them in water. Lighters should replace the use of matches completely.

Never build a campfire anywhere except in a regular fireplace or on a rock. Fire will burn underground for days unseen, and then set the forest on fire. Whenever possible use thermos bottles to carry hot drinks — this helps to reduce the use of fire and consequently the fire danger.

Use a spark arrester on your cabin chimney and a standard refuse burner for destroying rubbish.

Lands Division
From time to time, numerous enquiries are received by the Department with respect to securing a site for restoration or the growing of Christmas trees.

The Department is at the present time engaged in extensive reforestation work and as a result, no Crown land is available to the general public for this type of venture.

However, the individual need not be discouraged from his type of project as there are thousands of acres of privately owned land throughout the District which could be acquired for a nominal cost.

Some of these lands are at present being used as low grade pasture land and could be purchased for a nominal figure from the registered owner, while others are lying dormant and could be profitably used in growing its natural crop of forest products.

Another source of land is through the yearly offering by the various municipalities of lands in arrears of taxes. Details with respect to this category may be obtained from the various County Clerks.

New Southeastern Ontario Branch Established By March of Dimes

At a meeting held in Kingston on Sunday, September 8th, a new Branch was founded by members of March of Dimes Committees representing 24 communities and five Counties.

The new Branch will be known as the Southeastern Ontario Branch, with treatment centering in Kingston where Dr. W. J. S. Melvin is the medical representative of the March of Dimes. Patients will be assessed and treated from the Counties of Leeds and Grenville, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Hastings and Prince Edward.

Chairman of the meeting was Dr. W. J. S. Melvin, who reviewed plans for the new Frontenac and District Rehabilitation Centre. The March of Dimes will be asked to contribute $12,500.00 toward the operation of the new centre which will serve all five Counties.

Mrs. Betty McMurray, Executive Secretary of the March of Dimes in Ontario, outlined the growth of March of Dimes services in the District. Expenditures on direct patient services in the 1955-56 period were $8,741.00; for 1956-57 they were $10,612.00; while projected expenditures for 1957-58 will total over $40,000.00, she stated.

The new Branch will assume costs of joint operation of the Fulford Therapy Pool with Brockville Rotary, plus a grant toward the cost of a new pool in Brockville; payments on behalf of patients' rehabilitation, both for treatment and equipment; grants for administration of Salk vaccine; and expenses of a full-time travelling case-worker to serve the five Counties. Rehabilitation procedures will be carried out through the new Rehabilitation Centre at Kingston.

Mrs. McMurray pointed out that the total amount raised by the March of Dimes campaigns in all communities within the district last year was $26,500.00, and stated that work with handicapped persons throughout the district had greatly increased because of March of Dimes activities during the year. She urged that communities throughout the five Counties not presently raising funds for the March of Dimes take an active part in the expanding programme. She stated that the cost of rehabilitation of a handicapped person averaged $628.00 and that this amount is returned to the community many times over in the earning capacity of the rehabilitated individual.

Those attending the meeting included: Mrs. Joan Kelly, Mrs. D. W. Day, Dr. R. H. Hay and Dr. W. J. S. Melvin, of Kingston; Mrs. T. A. Nuttycome, Mrs. M. Rusk, of Fort Henry Heights; Mrs. T. L. McCullough and Mrs. M. D. McKay, of Deseronto; Mrs. P. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. K. Blackhorn, of Sydenham; Mrs. G. L. Vincent and Mrs. F. C. Hummel, of Picton; Mrs. N. C. Wilbur, Mrs. J. R. Sisler, and Mrs. A. W. Fraser and Mr. Harold Myers, of Belleville; Mr. G. A. Higginson and Mr. J. Roode, of Brockville.

Where financial need exists, the March of Dimes pays all costs of rehabilitation services for adults crippled by poliomyelitis or other orthopaedically handicapping conditions. These payments include costs of transportation, hospitalization, physiotherapy, special equipment, and job retraining. Medical services are contributed by doctors for all corrective procedures.

Those attending the meeting included: Mrs. Joan Kelly, Mrs. D. W. Day, Dr. R. H. Hay and Dr. W. J. S. Melvin, of Kingston; Mrs. T. A. Nuttycome, Mrs. M. Rusk, of Fort Henry Heights; Mrs. T. L. WEED OF THE WEEK

RUST NO PROBLEM IF BARBERRY ELIMINATED

Stem rust of grain and leaf rust of oats which cause so much damage to crops, would cease to be a problem if the Common Barberry and European Buckthorn were completely destroyed, says the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

A rust spore overwintering on grass, straw, or other refuse can produce only one infection on grain the following year unless host plant is present. In that event, when the spores open up in the spring they are deposited on the new leaves of Barberry or Buckthorn plants where they are multiplied a millionfold and wind-borne to fields of grain. This red rust, when once established, will go on to infect other fields of grain at great distances from the original infection.

The Common Barberry is a perennial shrub growing from four to twelve feet in height, reproduced by seeds and shoots from the wide-spreading roots. The leaves have saw-toothed edges and at the base of the leaf stem are three or more spines. The numerous, yellow flowers hang in clusters from the axils of the leaves. Berries are at first greenish-yellow, turning red by autumn and they remain on the shrub for most of the winter.

European Buckthorn is a shrub or small tree varying considerably in size, and commonly growing in fence rows or woodlots. Short thorns are to be found at the tips of branches and on the stems. The leaves are dark green and do not fall until late in the autumn. The berries are green in summer, turn black in the fall and remain on the tree for most of the winter. The seeds are eaten by birds and the plants spread in this manner.

When present in large numbers a tractor or a bulldozer can be used to uproot the shrubs quickly and cheaply. Cutting is not recommended, since new growth appears rapidly. Sprays are also effective, and some work has been undertaken using the basal bark method.

Common Barberry and European Buckthorn have both been added to the list of noxious weeds under the Ontario Weed Act and must be eradicated. The Ontario Department of Agriculture has a policy of financial aid to assist all Counties undertaking a clean up programme.

POTATOES HAVE VALUE IN DIET

The place of potatoes in our Canadian diet is simply that they should be eaten every day by practically everyone.

So said Dr. L. B. Pett, Chief of the Nutrition Division, Department of National Health and Welfare, when addressing the First Annual Canadian Potato Industry Conference, just concluded at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Dr. Pett pointed out that potatoes share with milk, tomatoes, other vegetables, cereals, and meats the job of keeping Canadians alive and well. He also stated that great harm had been done to the public, as well as the potato industry, by the common fallacy that "potatoes are fattening." This has led many people to avoid such foods as bread and potatoes, and yet these same people will eat chocolate and other calorie-laden foods.

No food is fattening, in itself, emphasizes Dr. Pett, but only in the way it is used. It is not the kind of food that adds weight, but the amount of all food eaten in relation to activity. One chocolate bar usually has more calories in it than a good-sized potato — and the potato has additional nutritional values. Vitamin C (ascorbic acid), vitamin B (thiamine), iron, and other minerals are all present in raw potatoes.

"Twenty years ago," stated Dr. Pett, "potatoes, in the raw form, contributed half of all the vitamin C in Canadian food supplies — much more than the entire tomato crop and imported citrus fruits. Unfortunately, much of this precious food value was lost by over-cooking in too much water, and then storing and even re-cooking. But even in this final state a few milligrams of vitamin C must have remained, and the large quantities eaten by poorer families have enough to avoid scurvy."

Dr. Pett suggested three ways in which growers and consumers could improve health and the position of potatoes in the diet:

(1) Grow potatoes with more food value. Some varieties of potatoes, such as Dooley, have more vitamins than others, such as Green Mountain.

(2) Store the potatoes properly. Clean storage, in which cool air is allowed to circulate, slows down the losses of Vitamin C in potatoes.

(3) Cook the potatoes properly. Too many people cook potatoes far too long a time in too much water and then throw the water away, and thus discard much of the vitamin and mineral content originally there.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has several publications designed to help both growers and consumers of potatoes. They are obtainable at the office of the Agricultural Representative.

FORAGE SEED DISTRIBUTION

Canadian Forage Seeds Project, through the co-operation of the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, distributed substantial quantities of approved seed this spring. The seeds distributed were: Climax timothy, 19,862 pounds; LaSalle red clover, 6,975 pounds; Vernal alfalfa, 5,317; Erector sweet clover, 1,925; Summit crested wheat grass, 6,446. Ontario and Saskatchewan distributed the largest quantity of seed under this programme.

SALES OF PEST CONTROL PRODUCTS

Value of products sold for pest control in Canada through registered outlets totalled $24.7 million in 1956, reports the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This was an increase of eight per cent from 1955. The list of products included: Agricultural dusts and sprays, $7.2 million; livestock treatments, $7.0 million; herbicides for weed control, $6.0 million; insecticides, $4.2 million; rodenticides for rats and mice, etc., $300,000.

CHANGES IN FOOD CONSUMPTION

Food consumption patterns in Canada during the past 30 years for which such information is available, have changed considerably, states the Economics Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Wheat flour consumption has declined from 178 pounds per person per year in the 1926-30 period to 148 pounds in the period 1951-55. Potato consumption dropped from 238 pounds to 141 pounds. Consumption of other energy foods such as sugar and the fats and oils did not change greatly. There has been an upward trend in animal protein foods, especially poultry meats, and use of canned fruits and vegetables has increased sharply.

ANTIBIOTICS AND HIGH FIBRE RATIONS FOR GROWING-FATTENING SWINE

The antibiotics, aureomycin and terramycin, have been found to increase rate of gain in swine without any marked adverse effect on carcass quality when added to rations that are abnormally high in fibre content, says S. E. Beacon of the Melfort Experimental Farm. Normally, swine rations contain from 5 to 7 per cent of fibre but in years when poor quality oats and barley are used, the fibre content may be considerably higher. This usually causes digestive disorders, particularly in young pigs, and a reduction in growth rate.

All pigs in a test received the same basal ration which varied in fibre content according to the weight of the pigs as follows: Weaning to 70 pounds, 9 per cent of fibre; 70 to 130 pounds, 13 per cent of fibre; 130 to 200 pounds, 16 per cent of fibre. Aureomycin and terramycin were each added to these rations at three levels, 0, 10 and 20 milligrams per pound of ration, throughout the entire growing-fattening period. The effects of these antibiotic supplements on rate of growth, feed required to put on a pound of gain and on carcass quality were determined.

Aureomycin supplementation increased rate of gain by 7 per cent and improved feed efficiency by 5 per cent. Terramycin increased rate of gain by 13 per cent and had no beneficial effect on feed efficiency. The 20-milligram level of both antibiotics yielded no increased improvement over the 10-milligram per pound level.

In general, carcass quality was very good, some 89 per cent grading "A." Average Advanced Registry carcass score was 84 per cent. Lots fed no antibiotic obtained an average Advanced Registry carcass score of 86 per cent; those fed 10 milligrams of either antibiotic per pound of feed also averaged 86 per cent while lots fed 20 milligrams per pound of antibiotic averaged 81 per cent.

In all cases, feed savings were not sufficient to pay for the cost of the antibiotic. Feed costs per 100 pounds of grain averaged $9.95 for control lots, $10.62 for aureomycin-fed lots and $11.00 for terramycin-fed lots.

PRELIMINARY CROP ACREAGES 1957

According to the first D.B.S. (August 9th) estimate of crop and summerfallow acreages for 1957 this year's total wheat acreage was 21.0 million acres, a decline of 8 per cent from the 1956 figure of 22.8 million. The Prairie acreage declined to 20.4 million from 22.1 million. Summerfallow acreage is estimated at 24.7 million for 1957 compared with 24.1 million acres in 1956.

Oat acreage is estimated at 11.0 million acres, 6 per cent below the 1956 figure of 11.7 million acres. Barley acreage for all Canada for 1957 at 9.4 million acres is the second highest on record. The Prairie acreage placed at 9.2 million is up 13 per cent from the level indicated by the 1956 census. Oats acreage at 550,000 acres is little changed from the 1956 level but is 55 per cent below the ten-year average.

Canadian farmers are continuing to expand their acreages of oilseed crops. For the second year in succession flax seedlings have reached a new record, increasing 15 per cent to 3.5 million acres. Soybeans seedling at 255,200 also reached record proportions this year. Rapeseed is steadily increasing in popularity. Commercial production is carried on only in the Prairie Provinces where in 1957 an estimated 629,000 acres were seeded to this crop, an increase of 79 per cent from last year's seedlings of 351,900 acres.

SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATIONS ASSURE WILDLIFE SUPPLY

Canadian sportsmen across the nation help assure their hunting and fishing resources and facilities through membership in fish and game associations.

According to the new Encyclopedia Canadiana, such associations operate on a Province-wide basis everywhere except in Newfoundland.

In every Province the sportsmen's organizations have achieved successes, especially in establishing mutually helpful co-operation between sportsmen and government conservation agencies and in bringing sportsmen's views before the public.

Associations of Canadian sportsmen interested in improving hunting and fishing began as early as the 1850's. Their membership has increased steadily in the past 25 years.

Although attempts to unite the provincial and other organizations in a national sportsmen's federation have failed, two regional organizations have appeared. The Western Canada-Yukon Fish and Game Council, formed in 1944, is maintained by the sportsmen's associations of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and Yukon Territory. The Maritime Wildlife Federation, formed in 1951, links the sportsmen's associations of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.

The largest provincial body is the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, which includes 320 organizations with a membership exceeding 35,000.

Newfoundland had a sportsmen's association for the entire island in 1946-49, but now only four local associations are reported to be active there. "When wisely led," states the encyclopedia, "these organizations are effective and beneficial."

"In some Provinces they have played an essential part in increasing the number of uniformed game officers and in establishing sanctuaries, such as Tobeatic Big Game Sanctuary in Nova Scotia."

Co-operation

In a broadcast of particular interest to farm audiences, Hon. Jas. N. Allan, Minister of Highways and Minister of Transport, has suggested that closer team work between fathers and their children would be a fine contribution to safety.

"How often do you find a father who has made positively sure that his son is capable of handling a tractor or an automobile before permitting him to do so? By this I don't mean the obvious requirement of handling the controls expertly. What I do mean is has he assured himself that the attitude of the young driver will stand him in good stead in an emergency. Is he going to recognize a hazardous situation and avoid it, or will he take a chance?"

"The future safety on our farms and on the roads is in the hands of the young people of today, and it is now the parents' responsibility to see that they receive adequate training and instruction in their formative years."

HOW HIGH WAS THAT BALLOON?

A weather balloon, visible from Stirling recently, caused a good deal of controversy as to its location, altitude and size. About 4:30 on Monday afternoon, an attempt was made to satisfy our curiosity which led to some interesting results.

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott, Tweed, president and Mrs. Clarence Holmes conducted by having several towermen take azimuth bearings on it in the same way fire locations are accurately plotted. The direct distance from Tweed to this location was found to be 62 miles by scaling it out on a map.

A shot was then taken on the balloon with a transit to find the angle of the sighting above the horizontal. Assembling these findings and applying the tangent of the angle, it was found that the balloon's altitude was almost 18½ miles or 98,000 feet.

The size of the balloon is still a guessing matter, but it is estimated to be about 100 feet in diameter. Incidentally, besides providing a source of argument, the apparatus carried aloft relays useful weather information by radio during its passage above the earth's surface.

When made late in the evening, one realizes how flying saucer reports may develop from these sightings. Although the sun has set as far as the earth's surface is concerned, the balloon at its great height is still lit up by the sun and has the appearance through binoculars of having its circumference illuminated by self-contained light. If viewed while the balloon is carried in the "jet stream" of air which flows through the stratosphere at high speeds, the observer certainly would feel that he could tell Orson Wells a great deal about space-ships from Mars.

Splendid Programme Arranged By Directors For Annual Fall Fair

Allan Shows Midway and Nickling Bros. — Air Force
Band — Dance Sat. Night

With the annual Fall Fair sponsored by the Stirling Agricultural Society scheduled for Friday and Saturday of this week, September 20th and 21st, the committees in charge of the various attractions in front of the grandstand has lined up a programme for Saturday, September 21st that should appeal to all, and indications point to it being one of the best ever seen locally.

In preparing the programme, the committee has ever kept in view that the Fair is primarily for the agriculturists of the community and has endeavoured to make it of particular interest to farmers. However, the urban dwellers have not been overlooked and there are many items that should appeal to them as well.

It is the hope of the Society that the citizens of Stirling and community will show their appreciation of the efforts put forth by the directors by giving their wholehearted support to the Fair not only with their attendance but by competing in as many events as possible.

Acknowledge Donations

The directors desire to thank the citizens of Stirling and Hastings County who by their generous donations have assisted them in arranging for this year's fair.

Copies of the Prize List may be obtained from R. Shortt, Acting Secretary.

Trials of Speed

All of the familiar events are again on the agenda and a good afternoon's entertainment is promised for Saturday, September 21st. Horse racing enthusiasts will again be able to enjoy their favourite sport as trials of speed — Free-For-All and Classified Race with good purses, $200 and $150. — are included in the programme.

There will also be pony races for two classes, 11 to 14 hands and under 11 hands.

Bicycle Races

Bicycle races for the boys and girls are also on the agenda. There are three classes, half mile for boys 15 and over; 1-8 mile for boys under 15; 1-8 mile for girls under 15.

Good Exhibits

There will also be the usual good horse and cattle exhibits, as well as sheep and swine. In the main building will be found the ladies' work exhibit, cheese exhibits, High and Public School exhibits and the Horticultural exhibits.

Junior Farmer Section

In the Junior Section of the Fair patrons will be privileged to view the achievement day exhibits of the Stirling 4-H Calf Club and South Hastings 4-H Grain Club. The farm machinery companies will also have their usual display of farm equipment on the grounds.

The customary Junior Farmer section will again be featured this year.

Platform Performance

The Air Force Band from Six-R-Dee, Trenton, will provide music throughout the afternoon. The Nickling Bros. of Toronto, will be seen in a trampolining and bar act while amateur performers of the district will also be heard.

Good Midway

Arrangements have been made with the Allan Shows for a Midway with rides and booths for both the children and the adult patrons of the Fair.

Refreshment booths will be in operation on the grounds, while the ladies of Wellman's United Church will serve hot meals in the Fair dining hall.

Dance On Saturday Night

The Fair programme will conclude with a good orchestra providing the music.

In presenting the programme the Committee feels it should have the support of the community and given good weather, the attendance should be the best ever. All roads lead to Stirling Fair Grounds on Saturday, September 21st, and citizens of the surrounding district will be out in force to lend their support to the Agricultural Society.

Be sure to meet your friends at the Stirling Fall Fair.

Winners of the draws at Bird's Food Market in recent weeks were Mrs. Evelyn Finkle, Stirling, hair drier; Mrs. P. Greenley, Indian River, electric tea kettle; Mrs. Roy La Chappelle, Stirling, deep fryer and Miss Carolyn Burgess, Stirling, electric steam iron.

Centennial Book Committee Meets

The Committee chosen to compile the Stirling Centennial Book met in the Council chambers on Thursday night, September 12th. Those in attendance were Messrs. D. Montgomery, Robert Hulin, Don Rodgers, H. Rollins and Mesdames Roy Bush and Walter Elliott. It was regrettable that other members were unavoidably absent.

Mr. Duncan Montgomery accepted the chairmanship of the Committee and Mrs. Walter Elliott consented to act as secretary.

Various items of interest to be included in the book were discussed and it was decided that the committee must enlist help from all interested and informed citizens as well as those in authority in the various organizations now functioning in the village. Pictures are very essential, especially old ones portraying any aspect of pioneer days and it is hoped that anyone who has anything to offer in this regard will see about them at once and pass them along to any member of the committee for their consideration.

Histories of the various churches will be included and one representative from each congregation will be responsible for the material to be presented to the committee. Letters will go to all lodges, fraternal bodies, service clubs and other organizations in the hope that through united effort our book may be not only informative but desirable to former citizens as well as the present day and future generation.

While the committee is responsible for compiling materials, it is hoped that many may contribute to make it a village effort and that through the co-operation of all citizens the Centennial Book may be of sterling quality.

The next official meeting date is set for Tuesday, September 24th. Please help us have something ready for presentation.

Party and Presentation

Miss Ruth Linn was the honouree at a party and presentation given by Mrs. Fred Bateman and Mrs. R. A. Patterson at the latter's home on Monday evening.

The twenty guests entered into the fun and merriment by participating in such games as "Truth or Consequences", "Musical Hat Box" and "Zoo Parade".

To bring the games to a close, each guest had her fortune read culminating with that of the bride-to-be, who was seated beneath an archway of evergreen and flowers. As her fortune predicted, a "Bearer of Gifts" approached and presented Ruth with a table lamp and bon-bon dish. The guests also brought two of their favourite recipes and these were placed in a recipe box and given to the bride-elect.

The hostesses then presented each guest with a prettily decorated box containing refreshments and a small favour.

Ruth graciously thanked her hostesses and other friends for such a pleasant evening's entertainment and for the presentation, expressing the wish that her friends visit her when settled in her new home.

Directors of Chamber of Commerce Discuss Plans For Centennial

The forthcoming Centennial of this community was the chief topic of discussion at the September meeting of the Directors of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce in the Council Rooms last Monday evening.

Mr. J. V. Holt, Advertising Chairman, reported that coloured bumper stickers advertising the Centennial can now be purchased at 25 cents each from any local merchant. Mr. Holt pointed out that the 25 cent charge no more than covered their cost.

Lucky Draw

A lucky draw will also be held in connection with the Centennial, the prize being a $1000.00 bill, with an additional prize of $500.00 to the person selling the winning ticket. Mr. Holt stated that draw tickets will be on sale in the very near future.

Support Needed

Centennial chairman D. W. Rodgers pointed out that the support and assistance of all citizens would be needed to make the Centennial a success.

Final arrangements for sending invitations to former residents were completed, and it is expected that the invitations will be mailed in approximately two weeks. Over 800 addresses are presently on the mailing list.

Secretary Doug Patterson pointed out that it would soon be too late to accept further names for the mailing list and he urged all residents to forward any such names and addresses to him within the next few days.

The Directors passed a motion adopting the colours yellow and black as the official Centennial colours. These colours will be used in connection with all advertising, invitations and so on.

The next regular meeting of the Chamber Board of Directors will be held in the Council Rooms on Monday, October 21st at 7:30 p.m. All residents are invited to attend this meeting and take part in the Centennial week discussions.

Barlow's Store, Bonarlaw, Entered

Three break-ins artists who had forced their way into the William Barlow store and post office at Bonarlaw, Tuesday morning, made good their escape after they were discovered by a Bonarlaw resident who raised the alarm.

Nothing was believed taken from the store or post office, although the post office money box was found upset and silver scattered over the floor. Three men were believed in the store but all made good their getaway.

Entry to the store was gained by smashing a glass in the front door.

When alarmed, the men ducked out the back, one of them running upstairs in the store and jumping out a window onto an adjoining roof.

Provincial police from Madoc investigated.

Injured In Fall

Mr. Charles Bailey, Carmel, met with an accident while filling silo at the Trent River at Glen Ross last night. The silo measured 45 inches in length, with 18-inch girth and weighed 21 pounds. Mr. Diefenbaker, in a statement which made no reference to Mr. Smith, said Mr. White had informed the prime minister "of his desire, for personal reasons, to resign his Commons seat."

PC Stronghold

Hastings-Frontenac, in Eastern Ontario, is a Conservative stronghold.

Mr. White won the seat in five general elections twice in its present form as Hastings-Frontenac and three times prior to a 1952 redistribution when it was Hastings-Peterborough.

A lawyer at Madoc, where he was born and educated, Mr. White studied law at Toronto's Osgoode Hall. He was an army veteran of both world wars.

Mr. Diefenbaker appeared to indicate a Senate seat is in the offing for Mr. White when he said in his statement that the latter's many friends would "join with me in wishing him continued success in his career of public and professional service to his fellow citizens of Hastings-Frontenac and the rest of Canada."

Move Expected

It was considered almost certain that Mr. Smith, former University of Toronto president who took over the external affairs portfolio Friday, would run for the Hastings-Frontenac seat in a by-election.

Mr. White, 59, was first elected to the Commons in 1940. He held the seat ever since, winning again in the June 10 election this year with a plurality of about 64,000 votes over his Liberal opponent in a three-way race that included a Social-Credit candidate.

C.W.L. September Meeting

On September 12th, a meeting of the C.W.L. was held at the home of Mrs. Gerald Kirby. There were 14 members present and one visitor. Rev. F. J. O'Neill opened the meeting followed by the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report.

Mrs. J. R. Donohoe was nominated as 1st vice-president to replace Mrs. Vincent Farrell. Final arrangements were made for a sale to be held in the near future. A religious discussion was held by Father O'Neill.

The meeting closed with prayer and a social half hour was spent.

Cub Notes

The Stirling Cub Pack held its first meeting in the Public School on Monday evening, September 16th. Twenty new Chums registered with the Pack.

The meeting opened with the Grand Howl and prayer led by Mrs. B. Woodbeck. The boys were then assigned to their new Packs.

The highlight of the evening was the "going-up" ceremony conducted by J. Irish with the help of ten Scouts who represented the ten Scout laws. Mr. Frank Harding received the sixteen boys.

Mr. Irish showed slides taken at the Cub Camp this summer.

Entered Into Rest

CHARLEY D. BLACK

The funeral for the late Charley D. Black, who died at the residence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Allan, 123 Beverley St., Kingston, on Saturday, July 27th, was held from the Robert J. Reid & Sons funeral home, corner of Johnson and Barrie Streets, Kingston, on Tuesday, July 30th.

Rev. Dr. F. W. Banister, minister of Chalmers United Church and Rev. Dr. George A. Brown, minister emeritus of Chalmers, conducted the service, during which a musical selection, "That Beautiful Land," was sung by a male quartette, made up of H. W. Hartshorn, J. M. Cornfield, J. M. Saunders and J. D. MacIntosh.

The pallbearers were Murray Cornfield, Herbert W. Hartshorn, Alphonse McCue, John D. MacIntosh, Jeffrey Radcliffe and James M. Saunders.

Interment was in the family plot at the Riverside Cemetery in Napanee.

Mr. Black, who died in his 79th year, had been a resident of Kingston for nearly 30 years, being well known in the drygoods and men's wear business until blindness forced him to curtail his activities at the age of 70.

Surviving are his wife, the former

Helena M. Wheeler; a son, J. Ralph Black, of Montreal; two daughters, Lenore Black and Mrs. James (Betty) Allan, of Kingston; a sister, Mrs. Robert Kerr, of Toronto; a brother, Byrne M. Black, of Napanee, and four grandchildren and three nephews.

Demolish HastingsBuilding, Once*Office of Newspaper

One of Hastings early landmarks, the building that once housed the village newspaper, is being demolished.

The Star, as the paper was first called, was founded in 1879 by the late John A. Howard, one of the pioneers of Hastings.

Mr. Howard carried on the business of carriage-maker, with funeral and undertaking as a sideline. When cards announcing the dates of funerals in the community were required, Mr. Howard at first had to drive to Norwood to have them printed. To avoid this, he bought a case of type and a hand press to print the local obituary notices, and from this modest equipment The Star was a natural development.

Norham FarmerCrushed By Straw

Wesley Hayden Newman, 48, was crushed to death Wednesday night under scores of heavy bales of straw, which fell from a loft above a henhouse on his farm at Norham, near Warkworth.

Mr. Newman and his teen-aged son, Wayne, were attempting to prop up a cracking beam in the henhouse when the whole floor of the loft gave way. Bales of straw cascaded upon them. Wayne managed to jump clear but his father was buried.

Wesley Newman farmed in the district most of his life. As a sideline to the regular farming chores, he raised between 1,200 and 1,500 deKalb hens. His brother, William, is a poultry farmer nearby.

The dead man leaves his widow, the former Mae Clarke, and three sons, Garry, who lives on a farm nearby, Wayne, and two-year-old Sterling.

He has three brothers, LeRoy, of Fort Frances; Everett, of Brighton, and William.

The Funeral service was held at St. Paul's United Church, Warkworth at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, with Rev. A. L. Sissons officiating. Burial was at Stoney Cemetery, Norham.

Large Quantity ofUnclaimed Luggage*And Mail For*Hungarian*Immigrants

The Canadian Red Cross Society is holding a large quantity of unclaimed luggage and mail for recent Hungarian immigrants from Europe.

Hungarians expecting letters or luggage forwarded from Europe by sea are asked to write or contact the Canadian Red Cross Society, 95 Wellesley Street East, Toronto, Ont.

They should send their full name and address as well as their date of birth and date of arrival in Canada. A description of personal luggage is also requested. Owing to the similarity of many names and the popularity of others, these facts will assist in the disposal of the luggage and the mail.

your continued help, I aim to expand my small industry so that I may provide these same opportunities to still more veterans who are disabled.

May I, therefore, ask you to help me achieve this by telling your friends about our work, and by inviting them to send us their old cards each year. All types of greeting cards of use to us especially Birthday cards and Christmas cards, and we would be more than grateful for any which your friends may be able to send us.

Thank you again for your kindness. May your year be a happy one, and may God walk with you always through the years that lie ahead.

Yours very sincerely,

Guy Malone

So again this year we hope to send some more. Start collecting them now.

On Monday, September 30th, Brownies need not wear their uniforms, as this will not be a meeting — only registration fees and the new Brownies age, birthday, church, etc.

All Brownies are requested to start now as we cannot have them join later as our group is too large.

Be seeing you.

B. Owl.

Brownie Notes

Registration day for Brownies and new Brownies will be Monday, September 30th at 4 o'clock at the Public School gym. Registration fee is 50c, please pay on this day.

New Brownies must be eight or eight years of age before Christmas. No uniforms to be worn until after the new Brownie has attended Brownies regularly for one month and is ready for enrolment. A tie and tam is all that is required for enrolment. Price $2.00. If new Brownie has entire uniform, that will make her so much more proud of the fact she has earned the right to be a full fledged Brownie.

There is a little orange book which I recommend for the parents as well as the Brownies. These books have to be ordered and cost 25 cents, so if you wish one please have your Brownie order it on registration day.

Used Christmas Cards Wanted

Remember all those Christmas cards (used ones) we sent to the Soldiers' Hospital in England. Here is the answer we received:

Dear Friend:

It was most kind of you to send us your Christmas cards, and on behalf of my war-disabled pals and myself may I say how very grateful I am to you for the trouble you have taken in doing so. In this way, you are helping us, who are prevented by disability from working normally, to earn our own living once again and to support our families. In time, and with

The story of an African whose heart was too full for words is told in a news letter from the Bible House in Salisbury, South Rhodesia. The secretary of the British and Foreign Bible Society in that part of Africa is a Canadian, the Rev. Maynard W. Booth, of Montreal.

Mr. Booth was the speaker at a celebration in honour of the first complete Bible in the Cindau language. One of the native translators, who had worked for 14 years to make the Bible available in his own tongue, found it impossible to speak when a copy was presented to him. His heart was too full for words. But in a moment he burst into song, "Joy, joy, my heart is full of joy," instantly the gathering, many of whom had travelled for miles for this great event, joined in the hymn. The celebration on a Saturday afternoon lasted for two and a half hours, and there were three special services on Sunday. The people contributed from their poverty the equivalent of $62.00 to help the Bible Society finance the Cindau Bible. Each volume costs $2.00, but the Society sells it to the Africans at the subsidized price of 90 cents.

Telephone Round-up

Every parent knows how easily a two-gum cowboy can lose track of time — especially around mealtime.

But she also knows it's a simple matter to round him up by telephone. And any vague feeling of anxiety about where he is or what he is doing is quickly dispelled by that eager voice at the other end of the line.

Yes, the telephone is a convenience and a comfort, all day long. It means fewer meals grown cold because youngsters or husband are late getting home. It means more security when you're alone at night. It means more things done with less time and effort... Yet this endlessly useful servant works for you for just a few cents a day.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

The Official Board of St. Paul's met on Monday, September 10th and the winter's programme was considered and shaped.

It was agreed that the sides of the new building should be bricked this fall and brought into harmony with the main building. For this the treasurer is ill-prepared and those who have pledged amounts are asked to make their gifts as soon as possible.

It was further agreed that the "Scripturer's Group" should for this winter use the top floor room of the new building. Mr. George Carlisle kindly promised the necessary white oak lumber necessary for a desk and Mr. Jack Bush promised to make it. Mr. C. Macklin was charged with securing a piano for the use of the "Scripturer's" and Mr. David Duffin was asked to supply domes of silence for the chairs being used in the basement of the new building.

The Bible Class which meets each Sunday at 10 o'clock will use the front of the Church for its meeting. New members are sought and will be cordially welcomed.

There will be a big opening night for Sigma-C on Friday of this week, September 20th at 7 p.m.

The new leader is to be Mr. Don Williams, of Stirling Motors and he will be assisted by Mr. Jack Riddle and Mr. William Wilkins. It is hoped to form at once the two section — Tyro and Sigma-C. All boys from 9 years of age to 16 are invited to attend.

Weekly Editors Told Role of Weeklies Should Be Promoted

Increased efforts to obtain national advertising and a special programme to inform the public of the power and importance of the weekly newspaper were called for at the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Some 400 weekly newspaper publishers, their wives, families and guests attended the convention held at Banff Springs Hotel.

Special guests were 16 British editors of weekly and provincial daily newspapers. On a tour of Canada, the members of the newspaper society spent the entire time of the convention at Banff. After attending many of the business meetings, Kenneth Brawn, leader of the British group, remarked that "your problems in Canada are identical with those in Britain."

The Job Ahead

In his opening address to the convention, President William Draayer, of Wetaskiwin, Alberta, told the delegates that a full scale job confronts them.

Isn't it true that Time is a commodity available to each and every human soul in the same quantity? We are all born with that same inheritance — 24 hours each day. No more, no less. For some, it never stays long enough. Others — like da Vinci, or Churchill, or Eisenhower or Diebenkorn make full use of it and succeed. Socialists hate such an analogy. It is too apt for their liking. It is a truth we are all familiar with — for we all know some fellow who makes an hour pay off while another fritters it away. Fortunately, however, no law on earth can make us share the hours according to our need — or a Lazy Bones I know would have 36 hours for his day while busy folk like you and I would be cut to 12.

My avowed socialist friend is a simple fellow. He thinks he embraced socialism because of charity. I tell him that there is not a thing in the world to stop him practising socialism now — all he needs to do is share what he has with others. But this does not appeal to him. He apparently wishes, through process of law, to have the sharing out done only by those who are two or three thousand dollars a year more productive than he is. I suppose what he really wants is to force others to practise socialism while he reaps the benefits but does none of the contributing. Also, he expects that when socialism becomes the vogue, he will be among the rulers.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

I HAVEN'T TIME

An acquaintance of mine is an avowed socialist, a doctrine which, as preached politically, has always struck me as immoral, so I was glad to have a go at him in an argument this morning.

He argued that I write for a living, he said, rather smugly. "I've often intended to write — have quite a flair for it."

"Why don't you?" I asked.

"I've no time," he sighed. "No time at all."

I had just finished reading an article by Margaret Blair Johnstone in Guidesposts magazine, in which there was a striking quotation from the famous Leonardo da Vinci, who accomplished so much. Leonardo da Vinci said, "Time stays long enough for those who use it."

Isn't it true that Time is a commodity available to each and every human soul in the same quantity? We are all born with that same inheritance — 24 hours each day. No more, no less. "We have a case for weekly newspapers — a strong case —" he said.

"But we must do more to bring it to the attention of potential customers. We have many good friends in industrial ranks but the competition for advertising is getting stiffer and will be stepped up even more in the coming years.

"We must develop an effective campaign that will keep the weekly newspaper in a proper perspective for the Canadian industrial advertiser."

At Mr. Draayer's urging, a motion was passed which calls for the formation of a special committee which will explore advertising and sales techniques which might be used to advantage by the association.

Start Marmora Work Despite Money Lack

Marmora village council has decided to go ahead with preliminary work in connection with the installation of water work and sewage.

The maximum amount which the village can borrow on their assessment is $200,000, and this will not be enough to do the whole village.

A resolution at the September council meeting was passed to ask the Water Resources Commission to go ahead with the work, and there is no definite plan yet as to where the job will start or how far it will extend.

Larger Fruit Crops Indicated This Year

Larger crops of all fruits except pears and strawberries are indicated this year, the bureau of statistics said today.

It said much of the national increase is due to recovery of orchards and small fruit plantations in British Columbia from the severe winter of 1955-56.

Take It With a Grin

An old hillbilly and his wife went to the city on business. Since they had never stayed overnight in a hotel, they decided on the most swanky one in the city. They were shown to their room.

A television set was turned on when they entered, so they sat down and enjoyed the show very much for a while.

Then the old man became angry and shouted to his wife: "Maw, tell those show people to get away from our window so I can undress and go to bed."

Third largest of the provinces in area and population, British Columbia is almost entirely mountainous and ranks only sixth in occupied farmland.

Zion's W.A.

The monthly meeting of Zion's W.A. was held in the Sunday school room on September 11th, with Mrs. Minnie Petherick and Mrs. Gerald Petherick as joint hostesses. Eighteen ladies and several children were present.

The opening Devotional period included the W.A. theme, Hymn 285, prayer led by Miss Harriet Fry and the Scripture lesson, read responsively.

The business period included monthly reports, several "thank you" cards and letters — one from the Campbellford Memorial Hospital for the blankets that were donated last month from the W.A. Two letters of invitation from the Cobourg Presbytery W.A. at Frankford on October 29th, and the Bay of Quinte Conference, W.A. Semi-Annual meeting at Cannington on Sept. 23rd, were discussed.

The October meeting will be the annual quilting with pot luck dinner in the Sunday School Room.

The programme included a piano solo, by Mrs. Alymer Petherick; music by Mrs. Doug Ingram; two readings by Mrs. Don Kerr and Mrs. Roy Fry. The closing hymn was followed by the Mizpah benediction. Two contests were enjoyed which were given by Mrs. Albert Hay and Mrs. Doug Ingram. Lunch was served by the hostesses and their committee.

Anniversary Services

Anniversary Services at Zion were very successful with the church being filled for both services. Rev. H. Wright, of Norwood, delivered two very impressive and inspiring messages. Two well-rendered solos by Mrs. S. Gough, of Millikin and the Frankford Male Quartette, who rendered several selections, added much to the success of these services.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

HALF AS MANY ONTARIO POTATOES AND HIGHER PRICES THIS YEAR

A decrease of more than fifty per cent in this year's crop of Ontario potatoes is predicted, due to extremely dry weather in recent weeks throughout the potato producing areas. This conclusion was reached recently following a careful survey of the potato crop situation across the province by officials of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Further, soil and temperature conditions this year are such that development of scab is widespread, many fields having several misses. Grade out will be necessary, cutting down quantities of No. 1 marketable potatoes available for consumption.

An influx of potatoes from the U.S. earlier in the season resulted in extremely low prices and delayed digging of the early crop here. However, supplies are now clearing away and the crop across the border is estimated at four per cent less than last year. Harvesting is commencing in the intermediate and producing areas of the Province, with yields far below average. Unlike last year, no blight is prevalent this year.

It is predicted that potato prices will strengthen in the next few weeks and remain firm throughout the 1957-58 marketing season.

Ontario Potato Growers' Association directors from across the Province met recently in Simcoe County to assess the present situation and make plans for improvement of storage facilities and marketing.

WINTER SHELTER FOR BEEF CATTLE

Winter shelter for beef cattle should ensure protection from cold winds and from falling snow, and provide a dry bed on which the animals can lie. Such elementary comforts can be provided by a variety of structures, which should be assessed from the standpoint of adequacy of accommodation, ease of handling stock, cost of construction and durability.

For many years the Canada Department of Agriculture has obtained satisfactory results by using an open fronted shed, with single-boarded frame walls and a straw-covered pole roof, for wintering the beef breeding herd. In the winter of 1956-57, 34 cows wintered in this shed showed little weight change during the wintering period from November to April. On the average they lost 11 pounds per head in this period. The corresponding average for 21 head wintered in a stanchion barn was 19 pounds per head. In both groups the oldest and the youngest cows showed the greatest losses in weight. These figures show that the accommodation provided by an open fronted shed is quite satisfactory.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT OWNED DRY SKIMMED MILK

The Honourable Douglas S. Harkness, Minister of Agriculture, has announced that the stocks of dry skimmed milk owned by the Government will be offered for resale on the basis of 17 cents per pound spray process and 14 cents per pound roller process, f.o.b. storage, in carton quantities.

Full details with respect to location of stocks, selling and distribution arrangements will be provided to prospective buyers upon request.

CHANGES IN ONT. HOG MARKETING

After 17 turbulent years long awaited developments have come to a point of action for Ontario's 40,000 hog producers. On September 10th, 400 delegates to the annual meeting of the Ontario Hog Producers Co-operative in Toronto gave a standing vote of approval to the actions of the organization's directors for the past year. On the strength of this confidence in their organization, Ontario hog producers will launch the second phase of their open-market directional programme this fall.

Two important orders governing the direction of hogs to assembly points of the Ontario Hog Producers Co-operative, effective September 16th, were announced. These orders are under regulations of the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act and the Agricultural Products Marketing Act.

One order directs that all hogs produced in the Counties of Huron, Bruce, Grey, Wellington, Dufferin, Peel and Halton are to be transported and assembled at any of the eleven assembly points of the Co-operative, and the Toronto Stockyards. These yards are at Kitchener, Stratford, London, Chatham, Windsor, Barrie, Lindsay, Leitrim, Harriston, Newburgh, Ancaster and Toronto.

Another order announced under the regulations says that no person shall buy or sell any hogs which have not been transported to or assembled at any of the above yards.

The orders were announced by W. E. Tunison, Foxboro, a director of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, to 400 hog producer delegates attending the Co-operative meeting.

THE FOOD BASKET

FREEZE PICNIC FOODS AHEAD

Summer is almost over but there will still be some lovely days for picnics. Why not be prepared so that you can pack up a lunch on the spur of the moment? Here's where you can put your home freezer to good use, says the Home Economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

They suggest that many good picnic foods besides sandwiches, cakes and cookies can be made up ahead of time, stored in the home freezer and removed just before leaving for the picnic. Hotdogs and hamburgers, cooked and ready, bun and all, can be wrapped in foil and frozen. Later on they can be heated right in the bonfire. The foil will not burn and the bun and meat can be warmed in a few minutes without further cooking.

For cooler fall days here are a few more prepared picnic foods that you might keep on hand in your home freezer: Chilli con carne, chicken or beef stew, hearty vegetable soup, home baked beans, curried lamb or veal, meat in barbecue sauce or meat in sweet and sour sauce, fish and chips, Hungarian goulash and others — any one of which is sure to tempt and satisfy the hearty appetites that come from just being out in the open. These hearty main course foods can be heated at home and placed in a thermos container but if there are cooking facilities at the picnic ground it's more fun to heat them up just before serving.

Cheese Dishes

The Consumer Section booklet "Cheese Dishes" has been slightly revised and is once more available from the Information Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The booklet contains many interesting facts about cheese and over 20 recipes including supper dishes, sandwiches, fillings, muffins, bread, salads and dips for chips or crackers.

The trouble with safety signs along the highway is that the people they are aimed at are going too fast to understand them. It's sort of like putting up posters urging illiterates to join a class in how to read.

WORLD GOES ON

(Grande Prairie (Alta.) Herald-Tribune)

The cries of concern over "this present generation" have been raised in the same heartfelt tones for a good many decades. . . . And yet the world goes on, with each succeeding generation benefitting more and more from the discoveries made by men who, two or three generations before, were part of a mass of young people.

Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary

The Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary resumed its work after the holiday period on Monday, September 9th with a meeting at St. Peter's Anglican Church, Brockville. Out-of-town members came by car and chartered bus, and the attendance set a record. No doubt, the perfect weather contributed to this.

Miss Winifred Burns, Diocesan President, was in the chair. Rev. Canon Hutchinson, rector of St. Peter's, said the opening prayers, asking God's blessing on missions and their missionaries and on the General Synod now meeting in Brandon. Mrs. S. J. Jackson, President of St. Peter's W.A., extended a sincere welcome to the visiting members.

Miss Irene McCormack, corresponding secretary, read a letter from Miss Marie Foerstel, of Japan, who had been in Kingston last year and had spoken of raising a bursary for the brilliant young student, Kobayashi.

San. This year he has won a scholarship to an American University and next year he hopes to study at Trinity College in Toronto.

Mrs. J. R. Thompson, treasurer, gave an excellent report. Already thirty-one branches have paid in full their pledges for the current year. She had received numerous acknowledgments of financial help from bishops, missionaries and social institutions, both in the domestic and foreign field.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker was Miss Maxine MacGregor, on furlough from India. She is a 1952 graduate of the Anglican Women's Training College, Toronto, and has been stationed in Palampur in the Diocese of Amritsar.

Miss MacGregor began her talk with a brief history of the church in India. She said that literacy is the great need, and she described the educational work being done among boys and girls and parents. Teaching and the work of healing open the way for religious instruction. The Leprosy Home is the best example of encouraging results. Although the church in Palampur is poor it has an Island mission of its own in the Bay of Bengal — proof of real Christian progress.

Canon Coleman, of Trinity Church, Brockville, expressed thanks to Miss MacGregor for her enlightening talk. Miss Burns is leaving shortly to attend the Dominion Executive meeting and later she and Mrs. I. H. Esford will attend the Dominion Annual in Calgary September 18th - 21st.

The meeting was saddened by the news of the tragic death on September 7th of Miss W. Reynolds, who had been a faithful member for thirty-five years, during which time she had enrolled 640 children as Little Helper. Mrs. Gerald Spence, Little Helpers and Candidates Secretary, reported a membership of over 3,000 in her department, a new branch recently formed in Kingston with more in the making, and a candidate from Kemptville for the O.W.T.C. next year.

Mrs. M. C. Tillotson thanked St. Peter's W.A. for their warm hospitality and expressed the hope that a return visit might be possible in the not-too-distant future. Canon Hutchinson invited the members to inspect the new hall, of which he is justly proud. He closed the meeting with prayer. While the hostess branch served tea the members had an opportunity to examine Mrs. Esford's educational display and to renew acquaintances.

Not Enough Using Polio Vaccine — Polio Now a Disease Of Adults

"So far this year, there have been five cases of severe diphtheria admitted to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children with one death. None of these children had received diphtheria toxoid although the parents knew that it was obtainable, free if necessary, and that it afforded sure protection against the scourge of a generation ago," writes Dr. Crawford S. Anglin in an article appearing in the current issue of Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

He points out that this is just one example of how important it is for every family to maintain a high degree of protection against preventable diseases by immunization.

"Prior to the production of a safe vaccine there were up to 8,500 cases of poliomyelitis with 480 deaths reported annually in Canada alone. Every summer and fall there was a variable degree of concern bordering on panic in areas stricken with epidemic outbreaks of this paralyzing disease. At these times the great hue and cry from the populace, 'Why can't something be done?'

Well, as we all know, through the expenditure of millions of dollars on research and as a result of the time and effort of many research scientists working together in vast co-operative enterprise, a highly effective preventive vaccine has been developed to provide protection of a high degree against the paralyzing and fatal effects of poliomyelitis.

As is so characteristic of human nature, the first year that it was announced that the vaccine had been prepared and proven, but was not at that time available in sufficient quantities, everyone was clamouring for it. However, now that the vaccine is available in adequate amounts to immunize the whole population there is general apathy amongst some segments of the population who have not taken advantage of the vaccine, even when it has been offered on a free basis.

It is difficult to explain why there is always a certain percentage of every community who fail to avail themselves of the progress in medical science and protect themselves and their families from these known preventable conditions."

Dr. Anglin urged that all Canadians who are not yet protected by immunization against this now preventable crippling disease do so as soon as possible.

"Poliomyelitis is no longer a disease of infants and children. Infantile paralysis, as the disease was called at one time, is a misnomer for it is increasingly becoming a disease of adults over eighteen years of age where it is even a more crippling condition and a more serious economic problem. Therefore it is of vital importance that all age groups take advantage of this vaccine to control one of the formerly most feared and devastating contagious diseases."

Immunization Week September 22nd-29th

National Immunization Week will be observed the week of September 22nd for the 15th consecutive year. The event is part of the continuous campaign carried on by official Health Departments against the communicable diseases which can be prevented by immunization. To immunize against an infection means to stimulate the human organism to protect itself against the invasion of the germs of disease. The diseases in question include smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and now poliomyelitis. The vaccine called BCG vaccine is effective in the prevention of tuberculosis.

National Immunization Week, organized by the Health League of Canada, in co-operation with official Health Departments, is an annual reminder to parents that immunization will protect their children from these diseases. The prevention of certain communicable diseases by immunization is one of medical science's most dramatic victories. All parents should see that their children receive this protection from their doctor or local health centre.

It is important that immunization commence at an early age, namely about three to five months. It is important, too, that parents who have had their children immunized, must remember that the protection is not permanent and that it has to be maintained by booster injections at regular intervals.

Through the co-operation of parents, physicians and research workers, there is no doubt that poliomyelitis, like smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, will be a prevent-

NOTICE

Clinics for the administration of Poliomyelitis vaccine will be held next week as follows:

Stirling Community Hall, Sept. 25th

2.00 p.m. to 4.00 p.m.

Rawdon Twp. Hall, Harold, Sept. 27th

2.00 p.m. to 4.00 p.m.

These clinics are for the administration of the third dose of the Salk vaccine to all children of pre-school age who received the two former doses early in the year. Children who at that time were of pre-school age but who entered school this fall will receive their third dose at their school in the near future. All children who have not had any injections of the vaccine are urged to attend either of the above mentioned clinics and receive their first dose. Arrangements will be made for them to receive the second dose in about a month's time.

table disease. However, it is the responsibility of parents to avail themselves of the immunization procedures which will protect their children from diseases which no longer should menace their health, happiness and right to a full life.

Wellman's W.A. and W.M.S.

The September meeting of Wellman's W.A. and W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Sine. The meeting opened with the theme song and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

A "thank you" card was read from Mrs. Douglas Clancy and also an invitation to attend a tea and bazaar at Springfield in September. The business period followed with several items being dealt with.

Hymn 630 was sung. Scripture readings were given by Mrs. Clifford Clancy and Mrs. George Watson. Mrs. Jack Dunham held in prayer. Hymn 306 was sung. Mrs. Ken Tompkins sang "My Peace Is Like a River". Mrs. Clifford Clancy gave a reading and Mrs. George Watson sang the 23rd Psalm. Mrs. Arthur Beckett read "The Traveller". The hymn "O Happy Home" was sung and a discussion on "Homemaking Is My Vocation", was much enjoyed. Mrs. Jim Pollock sang "My Task".

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Sine and all who helped on the programme. Rev. W. G Fletcher closed the meeting with prayer. Lunch was served and all enjoyed a social half-hour.

Salem W.A.

The September meeting of Salem W.A. was held in the church hall in the evening. The president, Mrs. Murray Johnston opened the meeting with the theme song and theme prayer. She also read a verse. Hymn No. 249 was sung. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and they were adopted. Roll call showed seventeen members, 2 visitors and several children present. Roll call for next month will be a favourite hobby. The treasurer, Mrs. Lorne Hagerman, reported $93.16, proceeds from the Hoards sale. We were asked for clothing, old and new, to help the Unitarian Service. An invitation was received from Springfield W.A. to attend their annual bazaar on September 27th. There was a lengthy discussion about the hall floor and the matter was left in the hands of the committee.

Mrs. Orville Jackson then took charge of the program. Hymn 378 was sung. The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Murray Roy. The explanation notes were given by Mrs. Ivan Sarles, followed by prayer. Mrs. Mowatt Sine gave a reading, "After Summer Holidays". A song, "Little Drops of Water", sung by Jane Clements, Marlene Holden, Carol Sine and Judy Wickens, was enjoyed. A reading was given by Mrs. Harold Holden, "The Little Task", also a reading by Mrs. Thor Clements, "Being Nice to Live With Is the Answer to the Great Beyond". Mrs. Frank McGee gave the topic, "Rainbow Comfort".

Mrs. Broadborth moved a vote of thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Clements, and her assistants, also to those who helped with the programme. Hymn 388 was sung and all repeated the benediction. The collection amounted to $2.35.

St. John's W.A.

The September meeting of St. John's W.A. was held in the Parish Hall with fourteen members present. The meeting was opened by singing of hymn 732, followed by the W.A. Litany and prayers. Mrs. J. S. Whitehead read from the 19th chapter of Samuel.

After the minutes of the last meeting and the roll call, the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Earl Morrow. Mrs. Frank Harding gave her report on the Little Helpers' and Mrs. Secker, on behalf of Mrs. Fred Trow, said that the Junior Auxiliary would start again on the following Friday and that this year the girls aged 7 to 13 would have a study book on Japan. Mrs. Tom Tanner reported on the Extra-Cent-a-Day Fund and Mrs. George Noble gave the Dorcas report. The "Living Message" subscriptions are due in October. The members are requested to bring the subscription amount to the secretary, Mrs. Stella Leonard at the next meeting.

The W.A. Deanery meeting will be held this year in Trenton when the guest speaker will be the Rev. Savory formerly of Japan. It was decided that the W.A. would take 100 Church calendars for the parish.

Mrs. Secker in her usual capable and comprehensive way, took the chapter, "The Road Is Rough", dealing with the Philippines from the Study Book, "East from Burma". She was thanked by the President, Mrs. Melville Tanner.

Mrs. Hiram Rodgers introduced Mrs. McMurray, who spoke of her trip out West this summer. Mr. and Mrs. McMurray left June 29th to visit relatives and friends in Roblin, Manitoba. They travelled by Scenic Bus to Windsor and there through the States to Chicago then into Roblin, which is near the border of Saskatchewan, where they arrived Monday afternoon, July 1st. After visiting around, Mr. and Mrs. McMurray left for Killarney where they were celebrating "Old Home Week", which proved very interesting with its parade of 102 floats, picnics, speeches and arranged tours around the countryside and into North Dakota. They also visited the Peace Gardens on the boundary between Canada and the United States where they were celebrating the 25th anniversary of those very beautiful gardens. The Peace Memorial bears the inscription, "To God in His Glory, We two nations dedicate this Garden and pledge ourselves that as long as men shall live, we will not take up arms against one another".

On July 31st, Mr. and Mrs. McMurray left for Homestead, Brandon, and Winnipeg, visiting friends and relatives en route, and taking several side tours. They took the beautiful drive through the Mississippi Valley, arriving in Belleville on August 9th. Mrs. Rodgers thanked Mrs. McMurray for her interesting and enthusiastic account of their Western trip.

Mrs. Frank McGee then read an article on the founding and growth of the Hospital for Sick Children, better known to us all as the "Sick Kids". It was an earnest Christian woman, Mrs. Samuel McMaster, who in 1875 realized the great need for a special hospital for children and resolved to do something about it. With donations of thirty dollars and an abundance of faith, she rented a dwelling house for one year at a rental fee of $320. Thus the Sick Kids had its beginning. Ten years later this band of devoted women, who were carrying on the undertaking, had received $34,917.34 and had moved to a larger house. In spite of lack of funds, they went ahead on faith and continued to grow from strength to strength, outgrowing each building they occupied. By January, 1951, the seed planted by a saintly woman seventy-five years before, had blossomed into what is probably the finest "Sick Kids" Hospital in the world today. It is sometimes called "The Hospital that was built by prayer".

After a delicious lunch, served by Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. McGee, Mrs. Villette thanked the hostesses and Mrs. McMurray for her vivacious and interesting address.

Good Crowd Enjoys Fine Exhibits And Programme At Stirling Fair

Thrilling Finishes Witnessed In Trials of Speed — A Splendid Platform Show

In spite of threatening weather Stirling Fair attracted a good attendance on Saturday last. "One of the best Fairs" was a common expression heard from the patrons and President Clarence Fitchett and his Board of Directors are to be complimented on its success.

There was an excellent horse show with both heavy and light classes being well filled as some of the best horse flesh in the Bay of Quinte was on exhibition. The light horse show was climaxized with a carriage race, which saw the ponies pressing the track time of the sulky racers.

Exhibits In

Main Building

The main exhibit building had its array of produce of garden and field, home cooking that made the mouth water, and handiwork ranging from large quilts to the smaller items of wearing apparel. The excellence of the farm and garden exhibits, although smaller than last year, as well as the fancy work, drew many fine compliments from fair patrons. A commercial exhibit in the main building showing a full range of heating equipment and appliances by G. C. Mouck Hardware, drew much attention from the patrons.

Cheese Show

There was a large commercial cheese exhibit with six district makers entering a total of 30 cheese, including Stiltons and square cheese. Murray Heath, Campbellford, carried off top honours with other entrants being Don Deline, Chas. Blair, Harold Elliott, Ernest Reid and Trent River Factory.

School Section

It was in the agricultural building that the work of the junior department stood out. There were many fine exhibits of weeds, insects, vegetables and flowers. In addition there were the regular public school classes in drawing, writing and other school work. This exhibit attracted a great deal of attention and doubtless will continue to be a regular feature of the fair.

A public address system, set up on the grounds and operated by F. DeCarroll, Campbellford, gave splendid service and carried the announcement of events to all parts of the ground.

The midway attractions by Allan Shows were well patronized during the afternoon.

The No. 6 R. D. Band from Trenton was featured on the bandstand show in front of the grandstand.

Also featured was the Barbara Diment dancing class which staged acrobatic and tap dancing numbers. Barbara Woodbeck, Stirling, gave a tap dancing demonstration.

The Nickling Bros., of Toronto, delighted the spectators with a novelty trampoline and bar act.

Bicycle Races

The bicycle race for boys 15 and over was won by John Long with Peter Keuning and Garrent De Bryn coming in second and third. In the under-15 class the winners were R. Emerson, Halloway; Ross Carlisle, Stirling, and Herbert Smith, Thomasburg.

In the girls under-15 years race, Trudy De Bryn, Barbara Morrow and Margaret De Bryn were the winners.

Cattle Show

There was a large cattle exhibit with all breeds being well exhibited. Prominent exhibitors were: Wm. Jeffs, Stirling; W. Donnan, West Huntingdon; Paul McKeown, Campbellford; R. Ross, Stirling; Wayne Hadley, Stirling; Ronald Heath, Stirling; Lorne Hagerman, Harold; E. Reavie, Flinton; W. A. Danford & Sons, Springbrook; W. A. On Friday Stirling will play host to Madoc High School on the local Fair Grounds.

Won Pony In Draw At Fair

In the draw for the pony, saddle and bridle, at the Stirling Fall Fair on Saturday last, Oscar Fenwick, Enterprise, held the lucky ticket. The draw was made by Lee Grills, M.P.P. Hastings South, assisted by President Clarence Fitchett.

Robt. Hoard won a $10 cash prize for selling the most tickets and Chas. F. Davidson $5.00 for second prize.

Early strong with A. W. Moynes, of Cordington; Carman Downey, Crookston; G. Gerow, Picton; John Wickens, Frankford; F. Baldwin, Peterborough; C. Manion, Plevna, being prominent.

The show ring was a centre of attraction all afternoon with the horse and pony classes as well as the Stirling Calf Club competition proving very popular.

South Hastings

Grain Club

Members of the South Hastings Grain Club had a special showing of seed grain with Ron Hamilton, Bill Vermilyea, Ron Heath, Allan Johnson, Paul McLeown and Harry Danford placing in that order.

Honoured On 25th Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sleeper, 54 Front St. West, Stirling, was the scene of a happy gathering on Sunday afternoon, September 22nd when some fifty friends and relatives gathered to honour Mr. and Mrs. Sleeper on their 25th wedding anniversary. The couple were taken completely by surprise.

After all the guests had been greeted, little Master Steven Mason presented his grandmother with a beautiful corsage of American beauty roses and his grandfather with a white carnation from him and his brother, David.

Mrs. Sleeper, who was gowned in her daughter's wedding dress and veil, came down the stairs on the arm of her father, Mr. Lawrence Aide, as the group sang, "Here Comes the Bride," and went to stand beside her groom of 25 years. Pictures were taken, after which Mr. and Mrs. Sleeper were seated in chairs of honour and an aunt of Mrs. Sleeper, Mrs. Percy Sprackett, gave two very humorous readings. Mrs. Ross Sprackett, sister of the bride of twenty-five years, presented the happy couple with a chest of silver in lovely Flair pattern.

Mr. and Mrs. Sleeper both expressed their deep thanks to all. Mrs. Sleeper was asked to cut the beautifully decorated anniversary cake, after which a very tasty lunch was served by Mrs. Ross Sprackett, Mrs. Michael Malloy, Mrs. Fred Bateman, Mrs. Grant Hubble and the couple's three daughters, Mrs. Ross Mason, Mrs. Richard Knapton and Miss Carol Sleeper.

Prime Minister Appoints George S. White To Senate Seat

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced Friday that George S. White, a Progressive Conservative member who on Monday, September 16th resigned his seat of Hastings-Frontenac, is being called to the Senate.

A by-election was called for November 4th to fill the seat, considered to be unassailably Conservative. The government has not yet identified its candidate in the contest, but Mr. White said Monday he was resigning to open a way for External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith to win a Commons seat.

Last week Mr. Diefenbaker persuaded Mr. Smith to leave as head of the University of Toronto to take over the management of Canada's foreign affairs.

Needs A Seat

Mr. Smith runs his department but may not answer for it in the Commons until he holds a seat. In the meantime either Mr. Diefenbaker or some other designated minister will answer in the Commons for the department.

Only PC

Ontario Senator

Mr. White, when he assumes his

Senate seat, will be Ontario's only Conservative representative in the upper chamber. There are 21 Ontario Liberal Senators.

The other Conservatives are three from Saskatchewan, one from Nova Scotia, and one from Manitoba.

On Friday Mr. Diefenbaker appointed 80-year-old Senator John T. Haig, Minister without portfolio. He will be the Government Leader in the Senate. The entry of elderly Senator Haig into the cabinet is considered to be a compliment to his 22 years' service in the red chamber, entitling him to precedence as government leader when the Queen opens Parliament Thanksgiving Day, October 14th.

Springbrook W.A.

The regular monthly meeting of Springbrook United Church Woman's Association was held in the church basement on Thursday afternoon, September 12th with Mrs. F. Cosbey and Miss E. Peake as hostesses.

After a welcome to all by the President, Mrs. Clayton Burkitt opened the meeting with the theme song, prayer and W.A. Prayer.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. D. Fleming, the theme being "Christian Responsibility." After singing hymn 373 Psalm 121 was read responsorially, led by Mrs. Gordon. The Scripture readings, taken from Matthew 25: 31-46, Romans 15: 1-7, were read by Mrs. G. Broadborth. A prayer for our missionary was offered by Mrs. Fleming, followed by the Lord's Prayer, bringing the devotional period to a close.

The roll call — a donation to a layette bale to be sent to Burns' Lake Hospital, British Columbia — was responded to by 32 members.

Mrs. F. Cosbey reported for the August visiting committee, with Mrs. Fred McKeown and Mrs. Murney Mason to act on this committee for September. Reports from the sick and shut-in convenors were given. Two minutes' silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Ira Bristol, who passed away since the August meeting.

Mrs. Arthur Reid extended her thanks to the W.A. ladies for catering to her daughter's wedding reception.

The correspondence was read and dealt with, consisting of "thank you" notes, an invitation to a bazaar at Carmel and a letter appealing for clothing for the "Save the Children's Fund." The business of the meeting followed with a further discussion on a literature rack to be set up. Articles of clothing are to be donated for "Save the Children's Fund," with Mrs. D. Fleming and Mrs. R. Wellman in charge. It was agreed upon to continue the Christmas cards as a fund raising project with Mrs. Susie Thompson to order same. The report for the various committees for the bazaar was read by Mrs. Burton Bateyman with the final arrangements being dealt with. Mrs. F. Cosbey, Treasurer, gave the financial report from catering to a wedding reception recently. It was decided to have Mrs. D. Fleming contact Mr. Maurice Bell, Stirling, regarding varnishing the church floor. Plans were dealt with to hold a turkey supper in October, it being the 75th anniversary of the church.

This concluded the business of the meeting, and at this time Mrs. (Rev.) H. E. Bearc was given an honoured chair and presented with her W.M.S. Life Membership Certificate by Mrs. Susie Thompson. Although completely taken by surprise, Mrs. Bearc graciously thanked the ladies for the honour bestowed on her. Remarks were added by Rev. Bearc, voicing his appreciation for the honour given Mrs. Bearc.

The following programme was then given: The topic, "Missionaries," by Mrs. Carman Sline; readings, by Mrs. Gordon Webb and Mrs. Fred McKeown. Mrs. Bearc gave a short talk on the School for Leaders which she had attended recently in Whithy. A piano solo by Mrs. Ralph Wellman brought the programme to a close, after which the hostesses and their assistants served lunch.

The October hostesses will be Mrs. Ralph Wellman and Mrs. Clinton Robbins.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

A very good start was made last Friday on the Tyro and Sigma-C programme. C.G.'s Don and Jack had the boys hopping and agreed that we are a fine bunch. Unfortunately, C.G. Bill was down with the flu. He promises to be with us on Friday of this week. Seven o'clock sharp. We missed a number of "old boys." We want to see them along. Number to start with was 13 plus leaders.

The Minister had a few minutes' talk with each group on Sunday morning, explaining the new arrangements for the winter. The groups were very co-operative. During his visit he emphasized the need of a winter's effort on the part of all within the Church who are asked to look upon themselves as missionaries of the Church.

A start has been made during the week on "facing" the new building with red brick in order to protect the interior walls from damp. The building was begun last fall — a surprising effort was made at that time — it is something for which we may now be grateful.

All members and friends are asked for a maximum support in making the Carmel Anniversary a success. The evening service should see many of St. Paul's people at the "Church of the Prophets."

This Week's Activities

The Baby Band and Mission Band met on Monday afternoon for a promotion ceremony. The Belleville Presbytery met at Bancroft on Wednesday. Sigma C and Tyro on Friday.

Next Week's Activities

Tuesday, October 1st — St. Paul's W.A.

Thursday — Junior and Senior Choir Practice.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

LOVE...THE GREATEST GIFT

I've never met Leon Ackerman, 910 Seventeenth Street, N.W., Washington 6, D.C., but I intend to write him a letter one of these days to thank him. I'll tell you why.

Yesterday I was thumbing through a big Financial paper trying to keep posted on the world of business. My thoughts, I assure you, were 100 per cent materialistic. Then, staring up from the paper at me was a full page advertisement, which must have cost Mr. Ackerman a pretty penny. Here's what the advertisement said:

"Love... the greatest gift. He who understands love understands God for God is Love."

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you."

"If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?"

"And this commandment have we from Him, That he who loveth God, loves his brother also.

"Perfect Love casteth out Fear."

LAMONT TILDEN

One of the most familiar voices on Canadian radio is Lamont Tilden; he is heard frequently reading the CBC National News. He's been a radio announcer since 1931 spending the last 18 years with the CBC, something of a record. His record for the longest single broadcast was last June when, as anchor man on the radio election return broadcasts, he was at the microphone for seven hours.

And the advertisement then ended with a layman's prayer:

"Father may we be ever mindful that it is in loving our fellow men that we truly love Thee." As I say, I don't know Mr. Ackerman and haven't the slightest notion what his purpose might have been in spending all that money to quote Scripture in a financial paper. Whatever his purpose, he succeeded in shifting the thoughts of one reader from materialistic matters to spiritual ones.

Not that I am ashamed of materialistic thoughts. Christ was extremely practical and did not hesitate to put His mind to materialistic matters. Charity requires that someone pay a great deal of attention to producing the wherewithal upon which charity often depends. I've no liking for the dreamy do-gooders who preach charity but fail to buckle down and do the work that has to be done before there's anything around to give. And I detest the socialist who wants to share the fruits of everybody else's labour, but gets quite cagey when it is labour that he shares what he possesses.

Nevertheless,

it was a thrilling experience to leap from concentrated attention on material things into the more important spiritual level of thought, and read again, in the bold type of an advertisement, about the Divine Paradox. So I owe Leon Ackerman, whoever he may be, a vote of thanks.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

A 16 mm. sound film in colour entitled "For Every Man" has been released by the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada, and will be shown by the district secretaries of the 16 auxiliaries in this country.

The film, which shows the Bible Society at work in Canada, was produced by Rev. E. J. Heuer, of Edmonton. It is the fourth film that Mr. Heuer had made for the Bible Society. In 1950 his first film "Frontiersmen" received honorable mention in the Canadian film awards.

Since 1944 Mr. Heuer has been district secretary for North Alberta for the Bible Society. In November he will move to the national office in Toronto to devote his full time to the work of producing audio-visual materials for the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada.

Kemptville Agricultural School Preparing For Record Enrollment

This summer has been a busy one at the Kemptville Agricultural School. Enrollment for the junior year in agriculture is the highest since the immediate post-war period when veterans of World War II used their gratuities to acquire a more scientific knowledge of agriculture.

Accommodation was stretched to full capacity at that time and this year the residence will be taxed to the utmost to make room for both junior and senior boys. Registration day is October 15th, and it is expected that over 100 students, boys and girls, will come prepared to settle down in residence for another year.

Carpenters and painters are busy engaged in renovating and repairing the classrooms and residence and partitioning the basement to make available additional rooms.

While this work is being carried out, bricklayers and masons of the St. Paul's United Church Mission Band held their regular meeting in the Sunday School room on Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

The President, Linda Mayhew, welcomed the boys and girls of the Mission Band and the mothers and their children of St. Paul's Baby Band.

The combined meeting opened with the singing of "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall" and the children repeated in unison the member's purpose.

Hazel Bentley read the Secretary's report and Donna Gail Conley, the Treasurer, reported having sent $45.00 to the Presbytery. Diane Francis read a poem from the paper World Friends about friendly words, the words being, "Excuse Me," "Thank You" and "If You Please." The offerings were received and dedicated.

Wayne McCaughen read the Scripture Lesson, Psalm 23, and the leader told the children stories about the "Good Shepherd," "Jesus Feeding the Multitude" and "Jesus and the Children."

Mrs. Roy Tucker presented ten children with graduation certificates and Mrs. Jack McCaughen received them into the Mission Band. The names of the graduates were as follows: Ann Morton, Robert Lawes, Cheryl Conley, Wayne Tucker, Donald Luery, Tom Wilkins, Jimmie Duffin, Connie Tucker, Paul Vandervoort and Jacqueline Finkle. Each boy and girl received a Mission Band button and a mite box to help them save pennies so they might share in helping the boys and girls of other lands.

Christmas cards were distributed among the members to be sold and proceeds to go to the Mission Band.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction and about 60 boys and girls and their mothers enjoyed a delicious lunch consisting of sandwiches, cookies and chocolate milk served by Mrs. Roy Tucker and the mothers of Baby Band children.

Several years ago the people of Hastings County took part in the capital fund campaign to erect Quinte-St. Lawrence Hall, the residence for the blind of these six counties. In that home live many blind who are comfortable and happy through the generosity of their fellow citizens. They have to be supplemented in this residence by the C.N.I.B. Advisory Board in their home district. During the past year six Hastings County blind have lived in Quinte-St. Lawrence Hall, and have been supplemented by the Hastings County Advisory Board at the rate of $21.00 per month each. At the present time there are five Hastings blind in residence, and the supplementation rate is $23.00 per month each.

Because of this and the many other services the Hastings County Advisory Board, now confidently appeals to the people of Hastings County and in particular to the people of the Stirling district, for the funds which are so necessary to maintain the Institute's programme of services for the more than 140 blind under its jurisdiction.

Some of the features of the Institute's programme of services to the blind are: (1) Regular visitation by the Institute's blind field secretaries to discuss problems and arrange for needed services; (2) Instruction from the blind home teacher in handicrafts and other skills of value to those who must do things without sight. During the past year all of the 55 blind of Belleville, and the 18 blind of Trenton and the 67 blind of Hastings County were visited regularly by P. L. Timmins and R. J. Padden, the district field secretaries. The home teacher has given instruction in various subjects to many of the blind under the Board's jurisdiction, and during the past year 12 pupils received this instruction.

Employment, training and placement have been a very important service of the Institute and the Hastings County blind have not been overlooked or neglected. During the past year three Hastings blind were given special employment training, one as a field secretary, and two as industrial workers. All have been successfully placed. In addition, three are now working full time and are giving a good account of themselves. Plans are now underway for the training of at least one more blind person of this district.

THE FOOD BASKETSALAD OF THE MONTH
FEATURES APPLES

Among the apples that are plentiful in Canada during October, the redder ones — McIntosh, Jonathan, Cortland and Fameuse (or snow) — are the best for eating raw. It follows, then, that these varieties will be the best to use in salads. Their bright red colour, firm, crisp and tender flesh, and their fresh fruity flavour make them ideal for salads. Another important quality apples have for salad making is that they combine well with other fruits, meat, poultry, fish, many vegetables, cheese and nuts.

You'll find Jellied Apple Salad, our salad of the month, especially refreshing and colourful and it has such a pleasant, tart-sweet flavour that it will be perfect to serve with your Thanksgiving turkey or ham. Make it in either one large ring mold or in 6 to 8 individual molds and serve on lettuce, endive or finely shredded cabbage, along with your favourite salad dressing.

Jellied Apple Salad

4 teaspoons gelatine
1 20-ounce can apple juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
4 teaspoons cider vinegar
1/2 cup finely diced, unpeeled apples
1/2 cup finely diced celery

Soak gelatine in 1/2 cup of the apple juice for 5 minutes. Heat remaining apple juice to boiling point, add salt, sugar, vinegar and soaked gelatine and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Chill. When mixture begins to set, chop apple and celery and fold into mixture. Pour into mold and chill until firm.

What Others Say ITWO CARS A NECESSITY
(St. Catharines Standard)

We noted that two-car families are on the increase. This undoubtedly is because of the fact that people residing in the suburbs require personal transportation to reach their places of employment or the downtown shopping district and thus two cars become a necessity where the cost can be met.

TEACHER SHORTAGE
(Toronto Globe and Mail)

Education Minister Dunlop announces somewhat optimistically that the phrase "Teacher Shortage," is obsolete because all the school rooms in Ontario have teachers. Such satisfaction is understandable in a political figure, but we wish Dr. Dunlop had tempered it. While it may be true that there is a teacher in every room, there remains the fact that there are not enough rooms. There is a net shortage of schools, and in some expanding urban areas teachers are working with shifts of classes, doing the work of two. Nobody should assert too confidently that this is good either for pupils or teacher.

HIGHWAY PROGRESS
(Ontario Road Bulletin)

The extremes of climate in Northern Ontario, the thinness of soil cover and over hard granite rock, the profusion of lakes that must be skirted, great rivers which must be crossed, and the wet muskeg areas of the clay belt, all create exceptional difficulties in the construction and maintenance of modern highways.

In spite of this it is possible to travel across the greater part of Northern Ontario on good paved highways and more pavement is being laid down each year. On some sections of gravelled highway and in some places where construction is in progress the travelling is admittedly rough in comparison with the more heavily travelled roads in Southern Ontario. However, there has been steady improvement in road conditions month by month and year by year.

POLICIES CAN STIFLE DEVELOPMENT
(The Rural Scene)

The Canadian dollar is at a premium in the United States.

At this time of writing, the Americans are paying us $1.06 in their money for $1.00 in ours.

Premier Frost doesn't like this. He thinks they are paying us too much for our dollar, and that we Canadians can't stand that kind of prosperity. He says something should be done about it; and he suggests arbitrary action to reduce the value of the Canadian dollar to parity with the American.

To many Canadians this suggestion will be as welcome as a frost in blossom time. Most of us like to get as much as we can for our money. We think our dollar is losing value fast enough without the government forcing it still lower.

The United States is one of the few countries that allow their citizens to ship as much capital as they like out of the country.

Canada is one of the few countries in which the people of other countries think it would be safe to invest their capital. What could be more natural than that American capitalists should want to invest some of their surplus capital in Canada?

In order to do this they have to convert their American dollars into Canadian dollars. It is the demand among Americans for Canadian dollars to invest in Canada that has caused our dollar to rise so high in the American market.

The Canadian dollar is a floating dollar. It has no fixed value, but is worth whatever you can get for it.

If Mr. Frost had his way, a fixed value would be placed on it. Such a value would have to be arbitrary; and it would be no indication of the value the market would place on our dollar.

Wherever governments set arbitrary values on their currencies black markets develop where people can buy and sell such currencies for what they are worth to those who are selling or buying them.

It is the considered policy of the Bank of Canada to allow the Canadian dollar to find its own value in the market.

Consequently there is no black market for our currency. But if any suspicion should arise that our dollar is likely to be arbitrarily de-valued, black markets would soon develop, and speculation in our currency would become quite common.

Much of the American capital coming into Canada is in the form of goods produced in United States and not produced here but needed here to develop our industries. Without those goods our industrial development would have to slow down until our own industries were able to supply them.

This would take time, so much time that our industrial boom might peter out, and a depression might set in while we were waiting. Then we would have more serious things to worry about than the over-valuation of our dollar.

The time to develop our industries is to develop each one when opportunity arises. If we impede the importation of goods or materials necessary to our development until we can produce them ourselves we will be a long, long time getting our country developed — if we ever do.

We hope the government of Canada will not take Mr. Frost's suggestion too seriously.

Some people prefer to be counted out when the time comes to give an accounting.

Mr. Bracken over-ran the time. Had Dr. Smith wished to do so he could have filed his nomination, which was completed and ready. The country might then have seen Prime Minister Smith inviting John Diefenbaker into his Government.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

POULTRY RESEARCH PAYS OFF

Over the past 50 years the poultry industry has developed from the small farm flock, hatched and brooded by mother hen, to the large commercial flock as we know it today. This rapid development would have been impossible without continuous poultry research, says T. M. MacIntyre, Senior Nutritionist.

Until 1900 little attention was given to the economic characteristics of the many breeds and varieties of chickens. About 1910 the trapnest was invented, and shortly after the progeny test was introduced as a means of improving egg production. Improved incubation and brooding followed and by 1920 practically all farm hatching had ceased.

About the same period vitamins were discovered and this made it possible to raise chickens the year round thus eliminating seasonal variations in egg and meat production. This was followed by the development of specialized meat and egg strains of birds. Today's extensive broiler industry is based on highly efficient meat strains. Feed conversion has increased from about 4 pounds of feed per pound of gain to less than 2.5 pounds of feed per pound of gain and the end is not yet in sight.

The development of egg laying strains has led to greatly increased production so that yearly flock averages of 250 eggs per hen are now common. This increased production accompanied by improved rations has led to much greater feed efficiency for egg production. Many flocks now require only about 4.5 pounds of feed per dozen eggs whereas only a short decade ago 7 pounds of feed were required.

The poultry industry has made great progress but there will always be a need for research; fundamental research that delves into the meaning of things, and applied research that uses the knowledge available to develop new nutrition practices, new disease controls and new equipment.

FARM FORUMS TO BE GIVEN TRIAL RUN ON TELEVISION

Farm Forum will be given a trial run on television this season over C.K.N.X. in Wingham, Ontario. This station also pioneered early radio broadcasts which led to National Farm Radio Forum. Approximately 200 Farm Forums are located in the area covered by the Wingham station.

The telecasts will be the basis for a research programme on the effect of T.V. on Farm Forums. The organization of groups and the gathering of facts will be conducted by local people connected with rural organizations and Farm Forums in co-operation with a National committee representative of the sponsors.

The telecast will precede the radio broadcast of the same topic and go on the air at 10:00 p.m. on Thursday evening during January and March.

Topics discussed during this experiment in January will include a series on "Modern Marketing," covering production restrictions, price and income supports and producer marketing. In March they will feature discussions on the "Low Income Farmer," "Canada's Role in World Affairs" and a special topic of interest to women.

At a recent meeting in Wingham, persons representing local Farm Forums, the Federation of Agriculture, Ontario and National Farm Radio Forum, rural clergy, Ontario Agricultural College, station C.K.N.X. and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation set up a committee to lay the groundwork for the experiment. This committee will meet again this fall in Guelph.

BLACK AND WHITE DAY AT PICTON FAIR

The new $11,000 barn was used for the first time at Picton Fair when Prince Edward County Holstein breeders held their Black and White show on September 18th. Fifty-six animals were shown by four exhibitors. Judge James T. Brown, Newcastle, commented on the good quality of the females, and the excellent way in which they were presented.

The premier breeder award went to John May & Sons, Picton, while James Alexander, Hillier, won the premier exhibitor award, with Ross Parks of Bloomfield, runner-up for both awards.

AVOID CORN LOSSES IN THE CRIB

Every year losses occur in the corn crib. In many cases these can be avoided, says G. F. H. Buckley, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Cribbing corn with too high moisture content is one of the chief sources of loss. Corn with over 25 per cent moisture in the kernel is very susceptible to mold damage in the crib unless conditions for drying are very favourable. When the kernel moisture is 25 per cent the percentage of moisture in the cob is much higher, bringing the total ear moisture up to about 30 per cent.

Ears with a considerable amount of foliage after the tubers have formed but before the tops die or are killed. The correct time of application has been described variously as 2 to 6 weeks before harvest, 3 weeks after full bloom, one week after blossom drop, or two weeks before top kill. Earlier applications tend to reduce yields and injure the plants.

Suggested strength of the solution is 61 pints of MH Amine in 100 Imperial gallons of water per acre. Such an application will provide satisfactory sprout inhibition for 8 to 12 months when the tubers are stored at 50 to 55 degs. F. For good results the MH Amine treatment should be applied on a sunny day with a minimum of wind, and with rain not expected for 24 hours. Careful spraying is essential to ensure complete coverage, and conventional potato spraying equipment has proven satisfactory for applying MH Amine.

In view of the present availability of MH Amine for inhibiting sprouting, the following programme is recommended by Prof. Franklin for harvesting, storing, and marketing high quality potatoes for culinary and manufacturing purposes.

1. The programme for high-quality potatoes begins in the field. This means that proper attention should be given to factors such as good seed, cultural methods, fertility, and spraying or dusting for insects and diseases.

2. At the correct time before harvest, apply MH Amine to portion of the crop to be stored for marketing after January 1st.

3. If necessary, use vine-killing methods before harvest. Take all precautions to ensure that the tubers are handled as carefully as possible during harvesting operations and when filling the storage.

4. After filling the storage, give the tubers a two-week curing treatment at 60 degs. to 65 degs. F. and high humidity. This will hasten wound healing and thickening of the cork periderm, which in turn will prevent many rots and reduce the moisture loss.

5. Following the curing treatment, reduce the storage temperature to 50 degs. F. and maintain it at this level together with a relative humidity of about 90 per cent for the duration of the storage period.

Rectangular cribs should not be over five feet wide or circular cribs over six feet in diameter. If greater widths are used some sort of ventilator shaft should be inserted through the centre of the crib.

Raise the crib about a foot off the ground. This permits better air circulation and protects the corn at the bottom of the crib from water damage.

Rodents can cause a lot of damage to corn in the crib. Most of the rodents can be kept out by fitting the supporting pillars of the crib with tin or galvanized plates.

It is advisable to provide some kind of top protection for temporary cribs to keep out rain and snow. Corn stalks and straw make satisfactory coverings.

BETTER QUALITY POTATOES THROUGH BETTER STORAGE

Every fall in Ontario large quantities of potatoes are placed in various types of storage to supply consumer demands until a new crop is available the following year. In many instances, poor storage facilities and improper storage procedures result in potatoes being marketed that suffer from mechanical damage, undesirable chemical change, sprouting and shrivelling. Such low-quality potatoes are harmful to the potato industry, and create many problems for government inspectors, marketing agencies, processing plants and consumers.

There is no simple solution to the overall problem of storing and marketing high quality potatoes, states Prof. E. W. Franklin, Department of Horticulture, O.A.C. But simple and relatively inexpensive method is now available not only for preventing the undesirable effects of sprouting, but also for improving the quality of stored potatoes by using higher storage temperatures.

The Food and Drug Division of Health and Welfare has granted permission in Canada for the use of Maleic Hydrazide (known in the trade as MH Amine) as a sprout inhibitor for potatoes. Treating potatoes to prevent sprouting has many advantages.

It will eliminate the directly undesirable effects of sprouting such as loss of dry matter, increased shrinkage, and the labour involved in removing sprouts. But of greater importance is the fact that treated potatoes can be stored during their sprouting period at 50 degs. F. rather than the 38 to 40 degs. F. normally required to stop sprouting. A 50 deg. F. storage temperature will result in much better quality potatoes for food purposes than the 38 deg. to 40 deg. F. temperatures.

MH Amine is applied as a spray to the foliage after the tubers have formed but before the tops die or are killed. The correct time of application has been described variously as 2 to 6 weeks before harvest, 3 weeks after full bloom, one week after blossom drop, or two weeks before top kill. CONSERVATION NEWS!

Forest Protection

Two fires were extinguished during the week, one in the Plevna area and the other in the Township of Darling in the Dacre Chief Ranger Division. Both of these fires apparently resulted from burning smoking material thrown down in a fishing area.

The fire danger generally remained in the low to medium range and ranger staff are taking advantage of this situation to carry on with improvement projects authorized for the district, as well as other inspection duties.

Fish and Wildlife

Seeing is believing — and if fishermen want to see the big ones that got away, now is the time. Conservation Officers report that Speckled Trout are now up in shallow waters milling about the spawning beds. We hope the trout will not be molested now that the season is over and they are about to spawn. Their protection will ensure a good catch when the season opens next Spring.

Usually throughout the summer we get reports of beaver being such a nuisance. However, this year the reports were somewhat different. The summer being a particularly dry one, caused many serious situations for cattle and Conservation Officer Sam Shields reports that many farmers in his zone were glad of the reservoirs the beavers held back and quite often dams were released to water cattle further downstream.

Conservation Officer Jack Thibadeau reported that a beaver dam held back a large reserve of water in the Dwyer Marsh which is a tremendous help in restoring the productivity of the marsh.

The increase in the bear population this year has shown up in the number bountied by farmers. Since bear came out of hibernation last April, 42 have been presented for bounty. In addition to this, a large number have been killed by hunters who do not receive any bounty as this money is only paid when a bear is killed in defence or preservation of livestock or property in a Township of which not less than 25 per cent of the total area is devoted to agriculture.

It is very evident that the Parks

Division of the Department of Lands and Forests will be called upon to exand all facilities and services in operating parks, and to plan for development in other areas which are pres-

Sam Shields reports that throughout the summer anyone owning an apple orchard could expect to have a bear call to dine.

Notice To Duck Hunters

Once again we wish to remind Duck hunters that the season opens at 9:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time on September 28th. To those hunters who are on daylight saving, it will mean 10:00 a.m. by your watch.

Conservation Officers, assisted by other Department of Lands and Forests staff along with assistance from the R.C.M.P. will be out looking for statistics on the hunt as well as routine enforcement.

113,710 Separate Vehicles Entered Provincial Parks This Past Summer

Whatever the reason, visitors and campers have taken advantage of the recreational opportunities afforded by our Provincial Parks to a degree beyond any use experienced in previous years.

Although the current season was the first year an accurate record of day use was possible, reports from all districts across the Province indicate a much heavier demand than ever experienced.

In the spring of this year regulations made under the Provincial Parks Act provided that an entrance fee of $1.00 be charged for each car entering a Provincial Park; a windshield sticker issued authorized such vehicle to enter any Provincial Park any number of times.

"Park records as of August 15th, indicate that 113,710 separate vehicles have entered our Provincial Parks, and indications are that the majority of these vehicles entered a park several times during the period. Figures will be available at the close of the summer vacation period which will indicate the total number of entries made for the 1957 season," Lands and Forests Minister Mapledorad said.

"Although each of the Forest Districts, under whose direct supervision these parks come, have substantially increased their parks staff and maintenance programme, the increased use to which these parks have been subject, have taxed the facilities beyond that which was expected," the Minister added.

It is very evident that the Parks Division of the Department of Lands and Forests will be called upon to expand all facilities and services in operating parks, and to plan for development in other areas which are presently being held in reserve for future development.

The number of parks has been increased from six in 1955 to 67 in operation this year with many other areas being held in reserve as lake access points or for development as demand and available funds permit. In addition to these, several areas in the more heavily populated sections of Ontario will be considered in the overall development programme.

"A camping vacation seems to be captivating rapidly increasing number of people, to such an extent that physical facilities available could not accommodate all those seeking campsites in several of our smaller parks, even though the capacity of some of these parks, has been almost doubled within the past two years.

"The Parks development program of the Department of Lands and Forests envisages the expenditure of about $1.5 million dollars on new facilities and the modernizing and expansion of existing services and park road extensions. These improvements are now underway, and will be available for use next year.

"Preliminary records compiled from information secured as a result of specific surveys to measure various kinds of public demands, amongst other things, indicate that 24 per cent of park users were first time visitors. This gives some indication of the scope of development required to keep up with the need."

Farm Workers Earnings Rise

Canadian farm workers, on the average, received more cash to jingle in their pockets this year than last.

The bureau of statistics said that higher pay in the West was mainly responsible for the increase.

It was reported that of August 15th the national average farm wage with board rose to $1,200 a year from $1,155, and without board climbed to $1,680 a year from $1,550.

Eastern Canada average annual wages with board dropped to $1,120 from $1,140 in 1956 but the western average rose to $1,300 from $1,185. Annual wages without board rose slightly in Eastern Canada to $1,570 from $1,535 and increased more sharply in the West to $1,810 from $1,590.

In the crop year just completed Canada had a quota of 99,700,000 bushels under the International Wheat Agreement, but sold only 58,000,000 bushels to I.W.A. countries.

Canadians own this big share of The Bell Telephone Company

Of every hundred Bell common shareholders, 98 are Canadians. And following the recent sale of additional common shares, they now own 92% of Bell.

No other company has so many Canadians sharing in its ownership. Bell shareholders in Canada today total 150,000. Of these, 12,000 are our own employees and pensioners. And, of course, many, many more are Bell customers.

So Bell Telephone—owned, controlled and operated by Canadians to serve Canadians—is a distinctly Canadian enterprise.

Joslín — Linn
Nuptials

A very pretty wedding ceremony took place on Saturday, September 21 at 1:30 o'clock at Mount Pleasant United Church when Ruth Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Linn, Stirling R.R. 3, became the bride of Robert James Garth Joslin, son of Mr. J. Hoy Joslin, of Foxboro, and the late Mrs. Joslin.

The Church was decorated at the altar with potted ferns and tall white standards of white gladioli. A large basket of white gladioli was placed on the Communion table and flanked by tall silver candleholders with lighted white tapers. The guest pews were designated with white satin streamers and sprigs of green fern. The Pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Miss Grace Pitman, A.T.C.M., of Stirling, cousin of the bride, rendered piano music while the guests were being seated and provided traditional wedding music for the ceremony. Mrs. Carleton Potts, Stirling R.R. 3, was the soloist and contributed "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a floor-length gown of Swiss embroidered tulle over taffeta. The gown was designed with a portrait neckline, fitted bodice, with a deep peplum of tulle, short scalloped sleeves with matching elbow gloves.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask linen, centred with a three-tiered wedding cake misted at the base with tulle and flanked with a three-piece silver candelabra and white tapers. The bridal bouquets accented the table decorations.

She was assisted by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Arthur Gilroy, Belleville, wearing a dress of medium blue with mauve and black accessories and a corsage of pink feathered carnations.
